STRANGLERS ARE SPIRITED AWAY FROM ZION CITY

Feeling Is Intense Against Fanatics Who Killed Helpless Woman.

TAKEN TO COUNTY JAIL

Mitchell Testifies to Crushing the Life Out of Mrs. Greenhaulgh.

PROMPTED BY "SPIRIT"

Coroner Will Investigate Other Deaths; Inquiry to Be Resumed Tonight.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Walt and Jennie Greenhaulgh, together with Harold Mitchell, Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Louise Smith, who were arrested on the charge of causing the death of Greenhaulgh's invalid mother, were today taken from Zion City to the County Jail at Waukegan in order to avoid any possibility of an outbreak. The feeling against them is intense.

The inquest will be resumed tonight, and it is possible that further arrests will be made, as it is believed that other cures for "demoniacal possession" have terminated disastrously to patients.

The case of Bertha Young, 19 years old, who recently died in Zion City, is under investigation.

Mitchell Tells of Strangling.

Mitchell, principal among the torturers, has admitted that he has resorted to the process of strangling on numerous occasions where persons were found to be possessed of "demons."

Mitchell testified before the Coroner that when he clutched the woman's throat with his fingers the spirit forced him to crush the bones of the larynx.

"As long as the muscles moved under my fingers," he said, "I felt I had the demon, and I had to squeeze to get him out. Now I know I did wrong, but the devil had me in his power and I had to do it."

"Did the devil have you in his power when you choked these other people?" inquired Coroner Taylor.

"He must have had me. I thought it was God at first, but now I know it was the devil. I know it—I've had manifestations."

Resurrections Sought.

Coroner Taylor says he has proof that persons have been tortured to death and their bodies kept for days in the hope that "the gift of tongues" would restore them to life.

Mrs. Mitchell said today:

"When we started to Mrs. Greenhaulgh's house a radiant light, as of the Holy Ghost, led us. When we got there the devil came himself and fought with the spirit. There was a great struggle, and the devil won."

Jennie Greenhaulgh lies face downward in her cell.

"If I could die I would be happier," she moaned. "Poor mother! We loved her so we stayed single for her until now we are too old to marry—brother and I. She said, a few days ago, 'If I can't get relief soon, I want to go to Heaven. Maybe God answered her prayer.

"They bent her legs till they broke. Mitchell put his hands over her mouth when she tried to call us. When they tortured her, we ignored her cries. They held her down and pulled her head until they broke her neck.

"She never wanted anybody punished, and she wouldn't want them punished now. We forgive them. She forgives them. Let them go their way and repent."

Benjamin Hopkins, an undertaker in Zion City, has been warned not to undertake to leave the place, under pain of being placed under arrest. He admitted to the Coroner today that he knew that the bones of Mrs. Greenhaulgh had been broken by the treatment she endured, but said that he suppressed the fact on the request of members of the family. Hopkins is a Parhamite.

ST. LOUIS BOY HURT IN CLASS FIGHT AT PERDUE

LAYFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 21.—Francis Ball of St. Louis is in a hospital here, with 24 other students of Perdue University, as the result of the annual "tank rush" today. The object of 350 sophomores was to place the class flag on the high university water tank and 450 freshmen gathered with the same intent.

The battle was waged on the ladder leading to the top of the tank and on the ground. Ball was pushed from near the top of the ladder. In falling his head hit a stone. The others were hurt by falls and the freely swinging of fists.

AGED BANKER WHO IS ANXIOUS FOR TRIAL

CAPT. FLAVIUS J. TYGARD.

AGED BANKER IS ANXIOUS TO STAND TRIAL

Flavius J. Tygard Taken to Kansas City on Embezzlement Charge.

Capt. Flavius J. Tygard, former president of the Bates County National Bank of Butler, Mo., and trusted official of the Masonic Home of Missouri and half a dozen lodge and real estate concerns throughout Missouri, passed through St. Louis Friday in custody of Deputy United States Marshal Wild, on his way to Kansas City to answer an indictment of 11 counts charging the aged banker with appropriating the bank's funds to his own use.

Tottering under the weight of his 72 years, much of that time having been spent in doing good to others, Capt. Tygard was brought to St. Louis by Deputy Marshal Wild from Farmington, Mo. Since his indictment by the Federal grand jury at Kansas City, Capt. Tygard has been confined in the State Insane Asylum at Farmington. On an order from Judge Dyer of the United States Court he was delivered to Marshal Wild to be brought to St. Louis and then taken to Kansas City to answer to the embezzlement charge.

Twice the authorities at the Farmington asylum had refused to give him up to Wild. Contempt proceedings against the superintendent of the asylum resulted in the order to turn him over to the Government authorities. The Government established the claim that Capt. Tygard's confinement in the asylum was a ruse to prevent his trial in the Federal court at Kansas City.

Hurried to Kansas City.

When Deputy Wild reached St. Louis with the aged banker he took him immediately to the office of United States Marshal Morsey at the Federal Building.

Capt. Tygard was arraigned before United States Commissioner Chase Morsey. The Commissioner had but three things to determine—whether an offense had been committed in the Kansas City District of the Federal Court, whether there was probable cause that the defendant named in the indictment had committed that offense and whether Capt. Tygard was the identical person named in the indictment. These three things were soon determined and Commissioner Morsey issued the order of removal to Kansas City. Judge Dyer signed the order of removal and Wild was on his way to Kansas City with Capt. Tygard on the 2 o'clock train. Capt. Tygard thus spent less than two hours in St. Louis.

Capt. Tygard was a model prisoner, Deputy Wild said. "Don't be afraid, I won't try to get away from you," Wild says the aged prisoner said to him as they were en route to St. Louis.

Capt. Tygard is as sane as sane can be, according to his own statements, and to judge from the manner in which he conducted himself after he arrived at the Federal Building. Soon after he got there Assistant District Attorney Daues went up to him and introduced himself. A long conversation followed, in which Capt. Tygard discussed his case with Daues. He had refused to make any statement to reporters who accosted him, saying that he "had nothing to say at this stage of the game."

Glad to Stand Trial.

Daues said after the interview that Capt. Tygard told him he was glad to go back to face the charges against him for three reasons: "First, because I can't help myself," said Capt. Tygard, "second, because I want to go back to the county where I was a banker from 1870 to the time of this trouble and want to stand trial before the people among whom I have moved all these years, and last, because I'd rather go there or anywhere else than to stay in an insane asylum."

BITTEN SAVING CHILDREN, DIES OF HYDROPHOBIA

Lutheran Hospital Patient Believed to Have Had Dread Malady.

CHOKED DOG TO DEATH

Animal's Mouth Had Rubbed Against His as They Struggled in Yard.

Max Podgorschek of 6006 Hancock street died at 3:30 a. m. Saturday at the Luthern Hospital of a disease diagnosed by the physicians in attendance, including a Pasteur expert, as hydrophobia. Every symptom exhibited by the man after being seized with the fatal illness Thursday is said to have indicated this malady, which is so rare that some physicians discredit its existence.

While Podgorschek lived, the physicians thought his case might possibly be hysteria, which sometimes simulates the symptoms of hydrophobia. A man at the City Hospital recently barked and frothed at the mouth, but recovered from what was shown to be hysteria due to intense fear that he would suffer hydrophobia.

Podgorschek's death in coma, following delirium, is said by the physicians to remove the last vestige of doubt.

Early in August a huge mastiff invaded Podgorschek's yard and to prevent the animal, which seemed to be mad, from attacking his small children, Podgorschek battled with it. The mastiff snapped at his face, and he grappled with it, man and beast falling to earth. The dog's mouth rubbed against the man's, and Podgorschek lost a tooth in the fall, but he was unable to find afterward any break in the skin indicating a bite.

He choked the dog to death with his hands.

Choked at Word "Water."

Podgorschek believed he had escaped injury, and gave no further thought to the matter until last Thursday, when he was taken suddenly ill. He was seized with violent thirst, but when his wife approached him with water, or when mention was made of water, Podgorschek strangled.

As the hours passed, this aversion to water increased, and the strangling amounted to paroxysms. Thursday evening Dr. L. W. Schermann of 5438 Old Manchester road was summoned. He found Podgorschek in such a condition that he could swallow nothing, and medicine was administered hypodermically.

The sick man did not yield to treatment, but grew worse, the spasms at the thought or mention of water growing hourly more violent. His mouth watered constantly.

From the time Podgorschek was seized Thursday until his death he was unable to drink any water.

Dr. Schermann summoned Dr. Harry A. Upshaw, Dr. Robert Lillenan and Dr. J. H. McCaughan, who agreed with him that the case clearly indicated hydrophobia. Friday night Podgorschek was taken to the hospital. Dr. Carl Fisch, a Pasteur expert, examined him there.

The patient's temperature rose rapidly, and he became delirious. From this he passed into coma, from which the physicians were unable to rouse him, and in which he died.

At 11 a. m. Saturday a post mortem was held, at which a "culture" was made from a portion of Podgorschek's brain. Rabbits will be inoculated with this, and if they exhibit hydrophobia symptoms the case will be finally proven. Podgorschek was 41 years old. A wife and four small children survive him.

SHOE STRIKERS OFFER TO MEET MANUFACTURERS

Employers Pay No Attention to Workers' Letter Sent and Will Fight.

22,000 OUT, MEN SAY

Manufacturers Declare There Are but 15,000 All Told in the City.

The largest industry in St. Louis is threatened with complete paralysis by the strike of the shoeworkers in 18 big factories.

St. Louis is probably the largest shoe manufacturing center in the United States, and half a dozen of the smaller factories only are not affected by the strike. The army of workers on a strike is now estimated by the union officials at 22,000, though the manufacturers say the total number employed is 15,000.

For the week ending Sept. 7, the last for which official figures are obtainable, the shoe factories in St. Louis made 455,024 pairs of shoes, the daily average being 75,837.

The factories that are running have a capacity of not more than 10,000 pairs daily.

A Remarkable Strike.

In many respects the strike of the shoeworkers is the most remarkable in the history of trades unionism. At the time of the strike not more than one-tenth of the shoeworkers were members of any labor organization. Yet the strike was so complete that within 15 minutes after the shoeworkers walked out not a wheel was turning in any of the mammoth factories, some of which turned out 10,000 pairs of finished shoes every day.

The shoe cutters, the rejection of whose demands precipitated the strike, had an organization of 1500 members. Of the other 20,000 who struck only 600 were members of the union. In one day 5000 joined the union, and the others are being taken in as rapidly as they can be supplied with application blanks.

The cutters began forming an organization in April, and in June formulated their demands for increased wages and shorter hours. They demanded a nine-hour day instead of 10 hours, a minimum wage scale of $18 a week, certain increases in the price of piece work, and that only one apprentice be employed for each 10 journeymen cutters.

These demands were presented to the superintendents of four of the Hamilton-Brown Co.'s factories, the four Brown Shoe Co.'s factories, the three factories of the Peters Shoe Co., the four factories of the Roberts, Johnson & Rand Shoe Co., and the factories of the Courtney Shoe Co., the Gieseeke-D'Oench-Hayes Shoe Co., the Dittman Shoe Co., the Goodbar Shoe Co., and the Carruthers-Jones Shoe Co. The manufacturers met and decided not to yield to the demands of the cutters' union.

Cutters Out First.

This led to the strike of the cutters Thursday, followed by the general strike of all shoeworkers in the shops owned by these manufacturers.

Business Agent George C. Frank of the Independent Boot and Shoe Cutters' Union of Missouri, in behalf of all other striking crafts than the cutters, made a demand upon the manufacturers Saturday for a nine-hour day for the stitchers, lasters, edgemakers, bottomers, stock fitters and finishers.

It was stipulated in the demand that the rate of pay was to remain the same for the nine-hour day as for ten hours. The demands as to wage increases probably will be made more specific before the strikers ask for conferences with the manufacturers.

The strikers say that they are willing to confer with the manufacturers any time relative to their demands. So far the manufacturers have ignored all demands of the strikers.

I. H. Sawyer, a director of the Brown Shoe Co., who is president of the Shoe Manufacturers' Association of St. Louis, said Saturday that he had no statement to give out in regard to the meeting of the manufacturers Friday afternoon.

He would not say whether another meeting would be held Saturday, or whether a committee had been appointed to formulate a plan for the settlement of the strike.

Will Not Join Others.

Michael Flahive, business agent of the Boot and Shoe Workers' International Union, which has union stamp agreements with the Wertheimer-Swarts Shoe Company, the Johansen Brothers Shoe Company, the John Meiers Shoe Company, and the union factory of the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that it was not likely that his organization would become involved in the strike.

He said that while the cutters had made a demand for a nine-hour day and a minimum wage of $3 a day, they could not strike until after arbitration had been tried and failed.

The mixed local of the shoe workers, met Saturday morning at Lightstone's hall, Eleventh street and Franklin avenue. The lasters met in Walhalla hall. Meetings of the different crafts are held almost hourly. The strikers declare that they will not return to work until their demands are granted.

ALTON MAN KILLS HIS WIFE AND SELF AS BOY LOOKS ON

MRS. JULIA WILCOX

JOHN WILCOX

John Wilcox Makes Public Road the Scene of Double Tragedy.

DUE TO HIS JEALOUSY

He Plotted the Double Death After Agreeing to a Separation.

LETTER REVEALS PLOT

Statements of Friends of the Couple Dispute Pact Theory.

As Mrs. Sophia Wilcox, 20 years old, walked toward the residance of a relative near Alton, to tell her that she and her husband, John Wilcox, had determined to separte, the husband, who walked beside her, fired two bullets into her temple. As she fell dead in weeds by the roadside, he kissed her, then turned the revolver on himself and fired a fatal shot into his right eye. Ryan Jones, aged 12, was a terrified witness of the double tragedy.

A letter found in Wilcox's pocket, addressed to his mother-in-law, showed that he had planned the murder and suicide. Nothing learned by the Alton police Saturday upheld the theory of a death pact, which was suggested by some persons after the double killing Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Wilcox was walking to the residence of her cousin, Miss Lizzie Henckhaus, in Yager Park.

She was hugging to her breast four photographs of herself, her husband, Miss Henckhaus and her brother, taken after their wedding.

Made Dramatic Threat.

Wilcox began pleading with her to return to him. She refused and he exclaimed:

"Oh, look there!"

She turned her head. Taking her unawares, Wilcox fired a bullet into her head. A second bullet followed.

Composing her body in some tall weeds, Wilcox then stooped and kissed her.

A third shot stretched him by her side, after he had stood in a position to fall beside her.

The boy who witnessed the killing remained transfixed as the whole scene of death was enacted before his eyes. Then he turned and fled.

Thursday, when Wilcox ran excitedly into the Alton Police Station and asked Police Matron Demuth to have his wife arrested because she had accompanied another woman to St. Louis the previous night and remained away from home.

Carried Photographs.

Mrs. Demuth told Wilcox that he could not have his wife arrested, as she was married and of age. He then exclaimed:

"Well, if something is not done, I'll do for her and do for myself." Then he dashed from the place.

The letter found on him after death had evidently been written after his threat. It contained the name of a woman in Alton. It was this woman who accompanied his wife to St. Louis, according to Wilcox's statement to Mrs. Demuth.

Emma Wilheidt, a former acquaintance of Mrs. Wilcox, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Saturday that Wilcox and his wife called on her Thursday afternoon while Mrs. Wilcox was on the way to call on her cousin, Lizzie Henckhaus, at Yager Park, near Alton.

"While here Wilcox told me that they had agreed to separate," said Mrs. Wilheidt. "They both seemed quite chipper. Mrs. Wilcox assented to her husband's statement about the separation. She told me that she was going to bid her cousin good-bye before breaking up housekeeping.

"Wilcox said he would accompany his wife to her cousin's house. Mrs. Wilcox told him she did not want him to go with her. He persisted, saying that he did not want her to pass some lonely weeds along the road. She consented, and they went away together.

Mrs. John W. Moslander, living near the spot where the tragedy happened, saw the husband and wife passing here place together.

A minute after they had disappeared she heard two shots close together, then a third shot. She was too terrified to give an alarm, and did not know that Ryan Jones had seen the murder and suicide.

Married Last February.

Mrs. Lizzie Stanton, a friend of Mrs. Wilcox, said Saturday that Wilcox came to Alton from Bixby, Ill. He was 23 years old. He met Sophie Bernhoff at Alton. They were married last February, going to live at 923 East Second street.

A week ago Mrs. Wilcox returned to her father's home, remaining there several days. She had decided to go to her grandfather at Bethalto on a visit. It was her return to her own home to get her photographs that gave Wilcox the opportunity of carrying out his threat.

FOLK CHEERED AT JAMESTOWN AS 1908 LEADER

Referred to as Presidential Possibility, He Gets an Ovation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 21.—Governor Folk of Missouri received an ovation toady as a presidential possibility in 1908. When Lieutenant Governor Ellison, in his address of welcome, referred to Gov. Folk as the party leader of the Democrats, there was tumultous applause.

This was Missouri Day at the Jamestown Exposition and the principal speaker was Gov. Folk, who talked on "Liberty of the Individual Right, not a Priviledge." The celebration was the most elaborate of any of the State days.

Gov. Folk was accompanied by Mrs. Folk, Inspector General J. L. Hanley of the Missouri National Guards, George Creel of Kansas City, and Harry T. Kent of St. Louis. They were the center of a crowd of thousands which had gathered from many Southern States to hear the reform governor speak.

Folk Scores the Tariff.

In his address Gov. Folk discussed law enforcement, federal interference with State rights and the tarriff. While general in his discussion of the tarriff, Gov. Folk said that the present duty scale could not be defended. It was "trust-making," he declared, that hampered American trade at home and abroad.

The liberty of individuals, he said, did not permit the breaking of laws. Liberty was not lawlessness, declared the governor.

Gov. Folk declared that he did not believe in trust-baiting, but that if the conduct of the corporation magnates showed respect for the law in the same degree that they expected others to show toward corporation property, there would be no need of agitation.

Railroad Legislation.

Taking up railroad legislation, he said that States should be given the sole right to govern them within their own boundaries. Federal interference of the neforcement of laws until those laws had been found consntutional curtailed the rights of States, said the Governor.

The exercises of the day opened when Gov. Folk and the official Missouri party was escorted by a detachment of the Twelfth U. S. Cavalry from the Missouri State uBilding to the Auditorium, at 10:45 a. m.

President Harry Kent of the Missouri Jamestown Commission presided. Address of welcome was delivered by President Harry St. George Tucker of the Exposition, by Lieutenant-Governor of

NOTE LEFT BY ALTON MAN WHO KILLED WIFE AND HIMSELF

ALTON, Ill., Sept. 19, 1907.

"DEAR Mrs. Mary Bernhoff—I will write you a few lines to let you know what happened to Sophie and me. Sophie went with——— and another woman to St. Louis Wednesday night and never came home; stayed out all night and then came home.

You will find me and her side by side along the road between Bethalto and Alton; bury us together.

"You can raise money enough on the furniture to bury us.

"I told Sophie I would kill her, as it is too late to say anything about. So I have done what was right. She wouldn't listen to me. I talked to her with tears in my eyes, and that did no good, so I will close with best wishes to all.

"Tell Julia that I said goodby and don't go with any bad company. It will lead her astray. Tell Julia that I say to take the watch and ring and think of me and Sophie.

Goodby forever.

Yours,
JOHN WILCOX AND SOPHIE.

POLICY PLAYERS GET LONG TERMS IN WORKHOUSE

Judge Taylor in the Court of Criminal Correction Saturday sent eight negro policy vendors to the Workhouse to serve terms varying from one to eight years, in pursuance of his announced determination to break up policy in St. Louis.

"When these negroes serve a time in the Workhouse," Judge Taylor told a Post-Dispatch reporter, "and learn that the 'men higher up' cannot release them and have not so much influence as the vendors thought, they may reveal the names of the owners of the policy games. That is the information we want."

Sent to Workhouse.

Fines of $1000 for each offense—the maximum—were imposed recently on the negro vendors, and they were arraigned Saturday for final hearing. On their admission that they could not pay, they were sent to the Workhouse, the sentence being one year for each $1000 fine. Their names and terms are:

Sallie Casey, one year; Madison Barnett, three years; Charles Henry, seven years; William Bolger, eight years; Robert Rose, one year; Edward Hilton, three years; Fred Hutchinson, three years; John Chaney, two years.

Monroe Dobbs, under $2000 fine, was paroled on the statement of Detectives McMullen and Wells that he was dying of consumption at the City Hospital.

Fines are pending against John Quincy, $...00, Leroy Wright, $4000, and Alex Duncan, $...00.

CHILD BRIDE LOST HUSBAND IN THEATER

Mrs. Orilla Dunham Only Married a Week When Deserted.

SHE IS 15 YEARS OLD

Says He Loved and Left Her to Come Back in a Few Minutes.

HAD FITTED UP HOME

Spent $500 on Furniture for Their Cottage and Was Apparently Happy.

With an appeal to the police to send out a general alarm as a last resort in hope of finding her missing husband, Mrs. Orilla Dunham does not know whether she is a deserted bride or a widow.

She had been married but 11 days when her husband took her to the theater a week ago last Sunday night and left her there. He was in a good humor and seemed to love her as she did him. He had just spent $500 in furnishing a cottage at 8536 North Broadway and had a good position at the cement works. At the time he went away he had but 80 cents in his pocket.

At the end of the first act in the theater he patted his wife tenderly and said:

"I'm going out for a little while. I'll be right back."

That is the last Mrs. Dunham saw or heard of him. He walked out of the theater and did not return. He dropped out of her sight and life as if the earth had opened and buried him.

When he did not come back she became uneasy and went to look for him. Then she became alarmed and almost hysterical. She knew not what to think. She was a country girl, only 15 years old; she knew nothing of police methods, so, after searching the street distractedly up and down she took a car and went to her home, thinking he might have gone there.

Home Is Empty.

The cozy nest he had fitted up for his child wife was empty. She walked the floor all night, weeping and wondering. The next morning she went to her mother's, in the country, and the parent, more experienced in the ways of the city, went with her to the city morgue. Her husband's body was not there.

Twelve days and nights have gone and the husband who so mysteriously disappeared has not returned, and has sent no word. His relatives in Ohio have not seen or heard of him either. And the young bride sits in her cottage, her heart filled with love and yearning after him, and cannot tell whether she is a widow or a deserted wife. She mourns him as one who is dead.

Believes in Him Still.

"George would never desert me, I believe," she says. "He loved me too well. Perhaps he is demented. You've read of persons becoming suddenly insane and of wandering off and forgetting all the past, even their names.

"Maybe poor George is wandering now away among strangers and hungry and suffering."

Her distracted mind has clutched at that theory as one possible solution of the mystery.

But whichever way she looks at it there is no comfort for her.

Mrs. Dunham's maiden name was Orilla Heifrich. She lived with her widowed mother on a little farm in Sissell, a village three miles directly north of the northern end of the Broadway street car line. George Dunham, 25 years old, was known to the family for six years. His home was in Castalia, O., but he had been employed in the cement works in Prospect Hill, north of St. Louis. Orilla was only a child when he first met her six years ago. He saw her grow up and bloom into a charming young woman, and then he asked her to marry him. She was only 15 years old and she told him she thought she was too young. The mother thought so, too, but Dunham insisted and at last the mother said they might do as they pleased.

Had Good Habits.

Dunham was a young man of good habits. He worked steadily and did not drink. As soon as they were married he rented the cottage at 8536 North Broadway and furnished it, and they went there to live. Mrs. Dunham says there had ben no trouble between them.

"Why, we were perfectly happy. George was devoted to me. That very night, while we were going to the theater, he was planning for our future.

"Riding down on the Broadway car, he put his arm around my waist and whispered:

"'Orilla, don't you know I love you dearly?' and I answered him: 'Of course, George. I know that, but take your arm away; people will see you. You mustn't love me that way in a street car,' and we both laughed.'

Was Very Pleasant.

"In the theater he was as pleasant as could be. I held my hand on his arm all through the first act, and I pinched him gently every once in a while to let him know I was thinking of him, even if I was watching the show.

"As soon as the curtain went down after the first act he reached under the seat and got his hat. I said: 'Why, George, where are you going?' He patted me on the back and said he was going out a minute and would be right back.

"I asked him to not stay long, and he said he would not. That's the last I've seen of him."

Sergt. Dreon Asks to Be Retired.

Application for retirement has been made to Chief of Police Creecy by Sergt. Jesse Dreon, for 16 years a member of the St. Louis Police Department, who says he has become a physical wreck while in the service. Action will be taken on the request by the Police Board next week. If granted, it will entitle Dreon to a police benefit.

CHILD BRIDE WHO LOST HUSBAND WHILE AT A PLAY IN THEATER

MRS. ORILLA DUNHAM.

ALDERMEN ARE ROUTED BY 500 ANGRY CITIZENS

Were Trying to Give a Railroad a 50-Year Franchise in Whiting, Ind.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—An angry throng of citizens invaded the Council Chamber in the City Hall of Whiting, Ind., last night, prevented the passage of an ordinance granting a 50-year franchise to the Hammond, Whiting & East Chicago Railway Co., threatened to tar and feather every Alderman who should vote for the measure, and finally drove all the Aldermen from the hall.

Alderman Paul Schultz was beaten and his clothes were torn almost from his body. Chief of Police Lawler and a number of policemen had difficulty in rescuing him.

500 Men in Crowd.

For several days Whiting had been placarded with bills calling a mass-meeting of citizens to convene at Cobel's Hall last night to protest against the franchise. Fully 500 men answered the call. Headed by H. B. Davidson, a wealthy real estate man, they marched with banners and a brass band to the City Hall.

The Council had assembled and was preparing to bring up the franchise for passage. With one or two exceptions the Aldermen were known to be in favor of the measure. It is said the railway company has spent a great deal of money in lobbying for the bill.

The throng took the Council Chamber by storm. Mr. Davidson mounted the Speaker's platform, usurping the chair and gavel. John Beslen and William Kridy, prominent business men, in fiery speeches denounced the franchise. Alderman Long and Alderman Schultz, foremost champions of the franchise, attempted to speak in support of it, but they were hissed to silence.

Inkwells Are Thrown.

An inkwell hurled through the air from somewhere and broke with a crash on Alderman Long's desk. Aldermen Long, Schultz and Michael Kozacik were then dragged to the front of the chamber, arraigned like prisoners and asked how they stood on the franchise. Kozacik, who all along had been supposed to be a strong partisan of the measure, weakened and declared he would vote against it.

Long and Schultz said they would vote for it. Thereupon the citizens crowded close about the two aldermen and grew threatening. Someone struck Schultz in the face. This precipitated a general attack. Long edged away through the throng and escaped. Schultz was unmercifully pummeled.

At this juncture Chief Lawler and the entire police force of Whiting, consisting of 15 men, charged into the chamber and rescued Schultz. The other Aldermen had all fled.

WOMAN SAYS THE INDIAN CALLED HER PRETTY SQUAW

Mrs. Granberry Has Him Arrested, but He Defies "the Paleface."

An Indian, giving his name as Sam Townsend, who said he was on his way from a ranch in Oklahoma to the Jamestown Exposition, was arrested Friday night on complaint of Mrs. Cora Granberry of 9 North Thirteenth street. She told a policeman that Townsend had called her a pretty squaw.

When taken to Central District Station Townsend would say nothing but "Huh, heap big brave, no afraid of pale face."

He was searched and when it was found he had no ticket for Jamestown and nothing but 25 cents to pay his way he was locked up on a charge of disturbing the peace.

"Just say 'huh' to Judge Tracy and see what the pale face does to you," said Sergeant Conlon as he ordered Townsend locked up.

WOMAN KILLED; GIRL ARRESTED, NEGRO SOUGHT

Prisoner Admits She Got Note From Colored Man Making Appointment.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The police today arrested Miss Helen Meinert in connection with the murder of Mrs. Lillia White Grant, the teacher whose body was found on a bed yesterday after she had been strangled to death.

The police are searching for Richard E. Williams, a colored man, who is thought to know something of the murder. The Meinert woman told the police today that Williams had worked with her in a hotel in the southern part of the city, and admitted that she had received a letter from him last night in which he asked her to meet him tonight at his home.

THIEF SENTENCED IS FREED BY JUDGE

Circuit Attorney's Office Gets Judge to Parole Guilty Man.

By request of the Circuit Attorney's office, Michael Jackson, who pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement and was sentenced to the workhouse for one year by Judge Rodgers of the Court of General Sessions, is enjoying his temporary freedom.

Jackson was a driver for the A. Moll Grocery Co. Representatives of the company had complained to the police of numerous thefts of packages from their wagons.

A number of these packages were sent C. O. D. and not until recently did investigation develop that an employe was appropriating money he had collected.

Evidence was obtained against Jackson, who fled to Chicago. His employers spent $200 to bring him back.

With the consent of the Circuit Attorney's office, Jackson was allowed to plead guilty of taking $30 worth of merchandise.

Within two hours after sentence was imposed he appeared at the grocery company's store and began to boast of the easy manner he had escaped punishment.

Complaint of his actions at the store was made to Chief of Detectives Smith, who instituted an investigation.

Judge Rodgers said:

"I paroled Jackson at the instigation of the Circuit Attorney's office. It was represented to me that he was a young man of exemplary habits and clemency should be shown to him."

Inquiries at the Circuit Attorney's office met with the response that it is customary to recommend pardons in the case of first offenders.

Judge Rodgers announced later that he would request the police to rearrest Jackson.

BLAZE OF MOVING PICTURE FILMS CAUSES A PANIC

Thirty Persons in a Jam Getting Away From the Blaze.

In a moving picture show at 1618 Market street, the celluloid film upon which the pictures are printed, caught afire Friday night. There was a big blaze and the place was soon full of smoke. The thirty persons watching the show ran in a panic for the door and some were squeezed in getting out. None was badly hurt.

In St. Louis there are nearly one hundred of these "nickel" picture shows. The majority are in store buildings without side exits and if a panic occurred while all the seats were occupied many might be injured.

HUMPHREYS IS ANGERED AT JURY FOR THE VERDICT

Policeman Who Shot Ambulance Driver Dead Wants New Trial.

HE GETS NINE MONTHS

Was on Trial for Murder and Testified in His Own Behalf.

The Police Board has not yet intimated what disposition will be made of Probationary Patrolman Thomas Humphrey, convicted by a jury Friday of fourth-degree manslaughter and given six months in Jail for killing Daniel G. Guy, a city ambulance driver. Humphrey was sent back to Jail.

Humphrey was suspended from duty by Acting Night Chief of Police Thomas Walsh when he was brought into headquarters the early morning of June 9, after he had killed Guy. Walsh's report stated that Humphrey was intoxicated.

According to police regulations the Board of Commissioners always take cognizance of a superior officer's observations of derelictions. Police Inspector McDonnell, whose duty it becomes to formulate specific charges based on such a report, has not yet filed any charges against Humphrey.

Under the last ruling of the Police Board on intoxication, no excuse is accepted nor even a reprimand administered in cases of drunkenness. The delinquent is summarily discharged from the force. Probationary patrolmen are not even entitled to trials before the Police Board, if that body elects not to try them.

Humphrey shouted instructions to his wife, after the verdict had been announced in his case, Friday evening, to see his attorneys, Orrick Bishop and Joseph McCoy, and have them ask for an appeal from the jury's verdict. Humphrey plainly expressed his displeasure over the verdict.

In giving his charge to the jury, Judge Sale outlined four possible verdicts—first degree murder, on which charge the indictment against Humphrey had been drawn; second degree murder, fourth degree manslaughter and acquittal on the grounds of self-defense.

The State introduced in rebuttal of Humphrey's own testimony that he shot Guy in self-defense, two police reports made by Humphrey which contradicted his statement on the witness stand. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Grant Gillaspie told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the Circuit Attorney's office had been put to unnecessary trouble to force these reports from the Police Department, even carrying the matter up to Chief Creecy.

In the first report, dictated by Humphrey, at 2 a. m. June 8, the statement was made that he shot at Guy when he was resisting arrest and trying to escape. The second report made by Humphrey the morning of June 9 stated that he shot Guy when attacked by him.

"WE'LL FIGHT TO THE END," SAYS WOMAN STRIKE LEADER

Mrs. Shea Declares That a Ten-Hour Day Is Too Long for Workers.

Mrs. Mary Shea of 1457 North Market street, who has worked in a shoe factory for 16 years, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Saturday that in her opinion a ten-hour day's work is too much for the health of any girl or woman.

"The women and girls who work in shoe factories," Mrs. Shea said, "are either self-supporting or they have others dependent upon them for support and first of all they must not break down or they can't make their living. It is hard work. Wages range from $3 up to the vampers, who sometimes make $25 a week.

"I know of one factory where the girls are lined up and told just how much work they must turn out. If a break in the machinery occurs and they are delayed they have to make up the loss by working eleven or twelve hours a day. In some of the factories they are made to work to the limit of their endurance and when they go home at night they are so tired that they can never think of going any place for amusement or recreation.

"In many of the factories conditions are good and the foremen are considerate, but a 10-hour day is too long a time to work and expenses have increased so that no one can live on any less money than is being paid for a week's work now.

"The girls and women are loyal to the union men and will not go back to work until the differences of the men are settled."

Mrs. Shea has acted as temporary chairman of the women's meetings and will probably be elected president of the women's union.

TRUST ALLIANCE IS ADMITTED BY INDEPENDENTS

Pittsburg Oil Refiners Say There's an Agreement With Standard.

WILL GIVE NO DETAILS

Hearing in New York Goes Over Till Monday; Tilford to Be Recalled.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 21.—A. D. Miller Jr. of A. D. Miller & Sons, independent oil refiners, with headquarters in this city, admitted last night "there was some kind of an agreement between the independent dealers and the Standard Oil Co." He declined, however, to discuss the agreement in detail.

When it was called to his attention that Treasurer Tilford of the Standard Oil Co., testifying at New York, in the suit of the Government for the dissolution of the alleged oil combine in New Jersey, had admitted yesterday in 1902 an agreement was entered into by which the independent dealers were to sell their entire output of oil refined for export to the Standard, which in turn was to sell for the independents a certain quantity of crude oil each day. Mr. Miller replied:

"Mr. Tilford ought to know."

WILLIAM ROCKEFELLER TO BE CALLED TO THE STAND

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The adjournment until Monday of the hearing here of the Government's suit to dissolve the Standard Oil Co., will give the Government's expert accountants another day in which to explain figures from the books containing the records of the Standard Oil Co. in the period from 1882 to 1892.

These figures will probably lead to an interesting line of questioning next week by Frank B. Kellogg, the Government's chief counsel. It is likely that when the hearing is resumed next week, Wesley H. Tilford, treasurer of the Standard Oil Co., will again take the stand. John G. Milburn, of counsel for the corporation, wishes to question him upon several points which have been touched upon by Mr. Kellogg.

William G. Rockefeller, it is understood, will then be called to the stand and asked by Mr. Kellogg to produce several books relating to the assistant treasurer's office.

W. E. Bemis, one of the leading men in the export department here of the Standard Oil, is wanted by the Government as a witness, but Mr. Kellogg learned from Mr. Tilford that Mr. Bemis is in the Far East and will not return for 10 months or more.

MAN'S CLOTHING ON BANK OF LAKE

On the bank of the lake at Priester's Park, between East St. Louis and Belleville, Friday a full outfit of clothing was found.

It has been identified as having been worn by Charles Ebel Jr., 21 years old, who disappeared from his home at 502 North Illinois street last Monday.

Ebel was a painter and had been married only a year. He seemed to be prosperous and successful in business and his wife was at a loss to explain his action in wandering away.

The wife has since learned that he was heavily in debt and that he concealed this from her.

Belleville authorities were informed Saturday that friends of Ebel saw him in Belleville Tuesday and that on that day he collected $150 due him on contracts and bought a new suit of clothes.

Went to Noon Meal.

On the day of his disappearance he went home to lunch as usual and ate a hearty meal. Leaving home to go to his paint shop, only half a block away, he kissed his wife good-by and told her he would be home early for supper.

She never saw him again. When he did not return Tuesday, she notified the Belleville police, and they have been looking for him.

The identification of the clothing found on the lake bank was made by Adolph Ebel, a brother. No note of explanation was found.

Chief of Police Nebgen and a detail of men dragged the lake Friday afternoon, but could not find a body.

Relatives were notified that if they will pay the expense the lake will be drained Saturday.

HUNTERS FIND OLD MAN'S BODY NEAR MADISON, ILL.

The body of an aged man was found by hunters a mile east of Madison, Ill. Apparently he had been dead several weeks. There was nothing by which to identify him.

A negro has told the authorities that a man who camped near where the body was found disappeared nearly a month ago and the body is supposed to be this man's. It was lying in a clump of bushes near the road when found.

There were no marks of violence and in the absence of definite information a Coroner's jury Friday night returned a verdict of natural death. For years tramps have maintained a camp near the place where the body was found, but the place is now deserted.

MISS ARNSTEIN LOST TO MRS. ENTZ AT TENNIS

Large Audience at the Triple A Courts Greet the Players as They Start the Contest—Mrs. Entz Starts as Favorite.

Four rounds of the Woman's Tennis Tournament for the Post-Dispatch cup were played Monday at the Triple A courts in Forest Park before a crowd which covered the terraces.

Mrs. Entz, a favorite with the spectators, defeated Miss Arnstein in two straight games, making the third unnecessary. The score was 6 to 2 in the first, 6 to 4 in the second.

Miss Milius defeated Miss Henrietta Chamberlain by default, Miss Chamberlain not appearing. Miss Carrie Bribach won from Mrs. Robert Kaime by two scores of 6 to 2. Miss Alice Prendergast defeated Miss Grace Morrill by scores of 6-4, 5-7 and 9-7.

The players wore short white skirts and English tennis shirts with soft collars. Other rounds will be played during the week and the winners pitted against one another until the two final contestants are selected. They will play next Saturday.

Mrs. Entz was the favorite among those in the gallery, whose sporting instincts urged them to wager five-pound boxes of candy against cigarettes and other things. She has played in women's tournaments here for several years. She doesn't play an aggressive game and advances to the net but seldom. She relies on a sweeping underhand drive from the back line.

She has a remarkably accurate backhand stroke for a woman player.

FRANCIS' AUTO IN COLLISION HURLS DRIVER 20 FEET

David R. Francis' automobile was demolished late Friday night in a collision with a farm wagon in front of 4570 Easton avenue. Thomas Comer, the ex-Governor's chauffeur, is under $300 bail, furnished by Thomas Francis, a nephew, to appear Monday in the Dayton Street Police Court to answer a charge of exceeding the speed limit.

Mr. Francis and his family are at Rye Beach, Mass.

The farm wagon, which was driven and owned by John Betts, a farmer living near Creve Coeur Lake, was damaged to the extent of $50, his load of produce for the early St. Louis market was scattered along the road, and his frightened mules ran away. Betts himself was thrown 20 feet and bruised.

Was Entertaining Friends.

Comer was entertaining in the ex-Governor's machine three friends, William Greek, a bartender, 1321 North Grand avenue; William P. Ford, a teamster, 3134 Clifton place, and George Biddle, a teamster, 3154 Clifton place. They had visited the Wellston street fair, where they had been detained for a while by a deputy sheriff.

From Wellston the merry party, singing at the tops of their voices, set out east on Easton avenue. As they approached Taylor avenue they tried to pass a farmer's wagon loaded high with produce. It was driving near the south pavement of the street.

The chauffeur made for the narrow pass between the wagon and sidewalk. Either his skill failed him, or the pass was too strait, for with a crash the machine ran into the wagon, throwing vegetables high in the air, catapulting the driver in a 20-foot parabola, and demolishing the Mules Run Away.

The merrymakers, finding themselves unhurt, leaped from the machine and took to their heels. The mules, jolted out of their semi-somnolence, ran away and were stopped a block away by John Finkler and William Davis, who ran out of a saloon.

Comer and his friends were arrested soon afterward by Policemen Hannon and Ballesty. The three companions of the chauffeur were released after an investigation.

About an hour later a man, who said he was "Mr. Francis," accosted Betts and asked him to name his price for the damage.

The farmer replied that the injury to his wagon amounted to $50, but that he would be unable to estimate until daylight the damage to his produce and his mules.

"I'll give you $25 for a quitclaim," said the farmer. "I'll compromise for $25," said the farmer. This sum was accepted, and a quitclaim signed by Betts.

AUTOS START ON 85 MILES TOUR

Thirty-One Owners Are Contesting for James Hagerman Jr. Trophy.

Thirty-one of the 35 entrants in the reliability tour of St. Louis automobile owners, which is being conducted by the St. Louis Automobile Club, started from the St. Louis Club on Lindell boulevard at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

The run is 85 miles long and the event is the first annual contest for the James Hagerman Jr. trophy. All automobiles will be driven by their owners or members of the owners' immediate families. No machine will be permitted to exceed the speed limit and the race will be judged according to nearness of the time made to that schedule for making the run.

Frank T. Carr, L. T. Highleyman, Theodore Hemmelmann and C. Stocke withdrew from the tour.

Says He Was Kicked.

Frank Andel, 23 years old of 2942 Michigan avenue, found lying in the street at Twelfth and Pine streets Friday night, stated he had been kicked from a Cherokee car by the motorman. The police arrested William Hines, motorman, living at 2626 Lafayette avenue. The latter denied having touched Andel.

Reform School Fugitive Caught.

William Eppert of Little Rock, Ark., who escaped from the Reform School at Boonville, Mo., last August, is locked up in the holdover at the Central District Station. He was arrested at Sixth and Market streets. He was sentenced on a charge of larceny from St. Louis.

FOLK CHEERED AT JAMESTOWN AS 1008 LEADER

Virginia and by J. Taylor Ellyson, also of the Exposition management. Gov. Folk's address followed.

There were present to hear him 500 members of the League of American Municipalities, which adjourned here last evening.

The program was interspersed with music, including the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Mexican Military Band.

Gov. Folk at the close held an informal reception, shaking the hands of several thousands. At 1:30 o'clock there was a great military parade, reviewed by Gov. Folk at the Lee parade reviewing stand. He was accompanied by the Missouri party, Exposition officials, Gen. Fred D. Grant, U. S. A., Rear Admiral Harrington, U. S. N., and others. A reception in the Missouri State Building followed. Gov. and Mrs. Folk spent the rest of their time seeing the Exposition.

Archbishop Ireland, the Catholic prelate, was one of the most interested on the reviewing stand with Gov. Folk, at the military spectacle on the Lee parade grounds this afternoon. Archbishop Ireland commented upon the fact that he was once a chaplain in the army.

The archbishop, speaking of the Philippine reservation at the exposition, said he regretted that the Filipinos are being shown here at their worst, rather than at their best.

CAT LOSES TWO KITTENS, BUT ADOPTS RABBITS INSTEAD

Cares for Little Bunnies That Dog Found for Her at Different Times.

Millstadt, Ill., has a nature fakir story. A dog, a cat and two rabbits compose the personel of the tale.

George A. Muller is the owner of the cat and dog. Tabby recently became the mother of three kittens. Two of the kittens died. Shortly afterward Fido brought home a baby rabbit. He carried it by the neck and laid it at his master's feet.

Mueller took the rabbit to the cat. Tabby carried the rabbit away to take the place of one of her offsprings. The next day Fido brought another rabbit, the same size of the first. Again Muller laid the little rabbit at the cat's feet, and again Tabby took the rabbit as her own. Now the cat has one kitten and two little bunnies for a family.

DROPS CHILDREN OFF TRESTLE TO ESCAPE ENGINE

F. H. Yehling and His Little Girls Were Caught on Bridge.

ARM OF ONE BROKEN

Other Child Unhurt by Fall of Thirty Feet Into Underbrush.

To save the lives of himself and his two little girls, F. H. Yehling dropped the children from a railroad trestle near Edwardsville Saturday and then hung by his hands from the end of a tie until an express train had thundered by. One of the girls had her arm broken. The other was unhurt.

Yehling is a mining engineer of Edwardsville. He and his two daughters, Margaret, 12, and Elsie, 8 years old, had been out gathering hazelnuts and were returning over a trestle which spans Mooney valley, a half mile east of Belleville. This bridge is 500 feet long and is 80 feet high in the center.

Overtaken on Trestle.

Yehling, holding a child by each hand, had reached the center of the bridge when he heard the express train from Toledo coming behind him. He picked up the little girls and tucked one under each arm and ran faster than he ever ran before in all his life. He dared not stop and look around, but he could tell by the noise that the train was not far from the trestle. Then he felt the bridge shake beneath him and he knew the train was upon the bridge.

The engineer had not seen him until within a few feet of the bridge. The engineer blew the whistle and put on the brakes, but the train could not be stopped upon the bridge.

Dropped the Children.

The father, running with a child under each arm, knew he would be killed if he kept on running. He was 100 feet from the end of the bridge, and the train was almost upon him. He stopped at the edge of the ties, dropped one little girl to the ground, 30 feet below and then dropped the other, aiming as well as he could, to have them fall into a patch of underbrush.

Then he let himself down and hung suspended in air from the end of a tie while the train passed.

The train stopped just beyond the bridge, and the crew went down into the gully with Mr. Yehling and found that Elsie's arm was broken.

BRIDE-TO-BE, LOST HERE, RETURNS HOME

While an anxious fiance searched St. Louis for Miss Isabella Boyle of Chelsea, I. T., after her mysterious disappearance when she came to St. Louis to wed, she was on her way home. She arrived there Friday, according to a news telegram to the Post-Dispatch. Her only explanation to the Post-Dispatch correspondent was that she "got lost."

Emil Anderson of Martinsville, Ind., Standard Oil agent there, was engaged to marry Miss Boyle before he left Chelsea a year ago, and arranged to meet her in St. Louis two weeks ago. She arrived Sept. 6, and the marriage was to have taken place that afternoon.

Girl Is Cautioned.

After lunch at a hotel Anderson left Miss Boyle to go down town on business, cautioning her, in case she left the hotel, to follow a car line so she could find her way back. When he returned to the hotel an hour later, Miss Boyle was missing. Her trunk was still at the hotel.

After a week had passed, Anderson appealed to the police. He employed private detectives, and spent days walking the streets. Miss Boyle is 18 years old. Anderson is 35.

A Good Start is Half the Race

The best start toward a successful day is a dish of delicious, wholesome Grape-Nuts food and cream, for breakfast.

The crisp, firm, "nutty" granules indicate firm flesh and crackling good humor. Its food value lies in the stored-up energy and tissue-repairing material in whole wheat and barley, so prepared by slow heat and moisture and subsequent thorough baking, that "all there is" in these cereals is retained and made perfectly digestible.

Let the meat go for breakfast and supper, take on Grape-Nuts in its place, and

YOU WILL FEEL LIKE A NEW PERSON

A breakfast of Grape-Nuts and cream; toast, and a cup of well-made Postum Food Coffee, will put you away ahead of the meat eater at the start of the day's business, and his handicap will only increase the "gap" as the hourly "laps" are made.

By noon, lunch will be relished and the digestive organs in fine condition to give you a good send-off for the rest of the day, and the thrill of a steady nerve and a success-winning brain.

It's an easy matter for the man who "gets tired between meals" to prove that there's a reason for

BORROWING NO LONGER A CRIME ON POLICE FORCE

Patrolman Lindsay Pleads Guilty and Is Let Off With Reprimand.

WIDOW COMPLAINANT

Her Late Husband, a Saloon-Keeper, Lent the Policeman $30.

Departing from its set rule of dismissing from the force any patrolman found guilty of borrowing money from a saloonkeeper, the Board of Police Friday evening contented itself with administering a reprimand to Probationary Patrolman Charles H. Lindsay of Central District. Lindsay had pleaded guilty to two specific charges of borrowing from saloonkeepers on his beat.

Lindsay is the first policeman to appear before the present board on a charge of borrowing money from saloonkeepers who has not been dismissed. Though he has been on the force but a few months he has frequently boasted to brother officers that he is "an heir to a sergeant's shield."

Only two weeks ago the board summarily dismissed Patrolman Henry Bergfeld, who pleaded that long continued illness of his wife had driven him to borrow money from a saloonkeeper. One of the complaining witness against Lindsay was the widow of a former saloonkeeper from whom Lindsay had borrowed $30.

Refused to Pay.

She stated that when she asked Lindsay for the money he refused to pay her. Lindsay pleaded ignorance of the manual as his defense. His punishment consisted of lectures by President Stewart and Vice-President Bland.

Patrolman Adolph Himiles of the Deer Street District, charged with engaging in the laundry business in violation of the rules of the manual which forbid a policeman going into any outside business, asked the board to continue his case for two weeks. He said his most important witness was absent from the city. The board was on the verge of granting the continuance when Capt. Johnson asked permission to whisper to President Stewart. The permission was granted and when Capt. Johnson got through whispering President Stewart announced that the board would proceed with the case and that if it developed later that a continuance was necessary it would be granted.

"Gentlemen of the board," said Himiles. "You have taken me off my guard. I fully expected to be granted a continuance. Will you excuse me from the room for a few minutes until I can prepare a defense?"

"Certainly," replied President Stewart. Himiles left the room and another case was called. A few minutes later the sergeant-at-arms was called to the door. He was handed a slip of paper which he turned over to President Stewart. Mr. Stewart read the paper and then smilingly announced that the witnesses in the case of Patrolman Himiles were excused from service.

"Shall I tell them when to return?" inquired the sergeant-at-arms.

"No," said Mr. Stewart, laughing. "Just tell them they are excused from further service."

Patrolman Resigns.

The slip of paper received by President Stewart read: "I hereby resign. Adolph Himiles."

The board reserved its decision after hearing the evidence in the case of Sergeant Timothy O'Leary and Patrolman John P. Moran of the Magnolia Avenue District, charged with entering the home of Mrs. Mary Temporetta, 4545 Shaw avenue, at 2 a. m., and conducting themselves improperly. The testimony was so conflicting that the board was evidently convinced that somebody was lying.

Through an interpreter Mrs. Temporetta testified that she was awakened on the morning of Sept. 3 by the touch of a hand on her arm. When she opened her eyes, she declared, she saw Policeman Moran bending over her. He was divested of his coat and helmet, she said. She tried to free herself, she said, but could not. She testified that Sergeant O'Leary, hat and coat in his hand, was standing at one side of the room and that he made no effort to protect her from Moran. O'Leary and Moran fled from the house, she said, when she and her 7-year-old daughter began screaming.

Moran admitted having entered the house. He said he did so under orders from Sergt. O'Leary. They were passing the house, Moran stated, and noticed the door was open. Moran entered and searched the rooms and then awakened Mrs. Temporetta. She was frightened, he said, and as he could not make her understand the object of his presence, she being unable to understand English, he left. O'Leary denied having entered the house, but stated that through a window he could see Moran the entire time the latter was in the house and that the officer did nothing improper.

Louis Barbaglia, a ward politician on "Dago Hill," testified that he did not believe Mrs. Temporetta's statement.

"That is only a conclusion on your part," said Commissioner Jones. "Do you know any facts concerning this case?"

Barbaglia said he did not and was excused.

Capt. Wilson later testified that it was Barbaglia who was instrumental in having Mrs. Temporetta prefer charges against the policemen.

Talk of Bribery.

"He has changed his mind concerning these charges," said Capt. Wilson. "He changed his mind shortly before bringing Mrs. Temporetta to my office. Policeman Biggio heard Barbaglia tell Mrs. Temporetta in Italian that she would receive $50 if she would not press her case."

After arguing the case among themselves the Board decided to reserve their decision until next meeting.

ST. LOUIS PHYSICIAN'S WIFE, DROWNED WITH BOY IN AUSTRIA

DOCTOR'S WIFE DROWNS TRYING TO SAVE CHILD

Mrs. Wolf and Son of West Belle Terrace in Austrian Fatality.

NEWS ON POSTAL CARD

Mother's Heroism Causes Double Tragedy Near Native Town of Inglau.

The wife and 3-year-old son of Dr. Alexander S. Wolf of 4600 West Belle Terrace, St. Louis, a St. Louis physician, were drowned at Iglau, Austria, according to a note on a postal card received by Hugo Worris of 3959 Maffitt avenue, an employe of a wholesale millinery firm.

Worris told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the postal was sent by his father, a professor in the High School at Iglau, who taught Mrs. Wolf in her girlhood there.

He says his father wrote that Mrs. Wolf was drowned in a river near Iglau, Sept. 2 and buried Sept. 5. The note explained, according to Worris, that Mrs. Wolf lost her life in attempting to save her 3-year-old son from drowning. In this she was not successful.

Friends of Dr. Wolf were shocked to hear of the reported death of Mrs. Wolf and her youngest child. Dr Lippman, who has an office with Dr. Wolf in the Lister Building, 4600 Olive street, says he has received no word from Dr. Wolf of the reported tragedy.

Went Away in Summer.

Dr. and Mrs. Wolf and their three children resided at the West Belle terrace home until their departure for Europe two months ago, when they stored their furniture. Friends expected them home this month.

Mrs. Wolf was a small woman, with light hair. She was about 26 years old. She was born near Iglau, and her parents still reside there. She was visiting them at the time of her death, it appears, while Dr. Wolf was studying in Vienna.

Dr. Wolf, like his wife, is a native of Iglau. Friends say he was romantically married while still a student at the University of Vienna. When he received his degree he brought his bride to America, where his parents had preceded him. They now live in Minneapolis.

Dr. and Mrs. Wolf have been in St. Louis about four years. He is a specialist on skin diseases, and has been very successful, according to his brother physicians.

SHIRLAW TO EXHIBIT FAMOUS CANVAS HERE

Large Number of Well Known Painters Will Show Work at Art Museum Next Week—Women's League to Meet—Art Notes.

The pictures are being hung at the Art Museum for the exhibition to be opened next Thursday. It is an exhibition of the invited and selected paintings of the best American artists. Practically every American artist of note will be represented.

The picture which Halsey C. Ives says is "the best painting of modern times" will doubtless be the star of the exhibition.

It is a large canvas by Walter Shirlaw, who was born in Paisley, Scotland. The title of the picture is "Sheep Shearing in Holland," and the canvas shows the women working with their immense shears while the men gossip and drink. There is wonderful feeling in the picture and the coloring and draftsmanship are exceedingly fine. It is a picture that commands close study, and is, in addition to its value in beauty and technique, educational.

In New York Artist.

Mr. Shirlaw has his studio in New York. He is represented in the Metropolitan Museum in New York and in the Albright Gallery in Buffalo. Those who have seen this picture hope that he will be represented in the St. Louis Museum, for it would be a very valuable addition to the local collection of American art.

Paul Cornoyer is another artist who is represented in nearly every gallery but that of his home town. He was reared in St. Louis and was a pupil and afterward a teacher in the School of Fine Arts. Later, he went to New York, where he has competed successfully with Eastern artists. He is one of the artists who is doing New York street scenes, but his treatment of them is much more interesting than many of the others. He is represented in the coming exhibition by his "Morning in Madison Square, New York."

Beckwith Is Represented.

One of the best things in the collection is J. Carroll Beckwith's "Sleep." It shows merely the head of a sleeping girl, but the freshness and tenderness of her beauty and the delicate moisture of sleep are bewitching. The flesh tones are particularly tender and the coloring delicate and youthful.

Cecilia Beaux's "Dorothy in the Woods" is up to her usual high standard. F. Louis Mora's "Portrait of Mrs. Mora" is unusually fine in tone. Some of the other prominent artists who are represented in this collection are Tryon, Horatio Walker, Childe Hassam, William J. Whittemore and J. C. Nicoll.

Exhibit Opens Thursday.

The exhibition will be opened Thursday with a press view and informal reception. Prof. Ives will talk on the pictures.

The hostesses of the occasion will be: Mmes. Wells Blodgett, Hanford Crawford, Sterling M. Edmunds, James M. Bull, Benjamin W. Clark, Norris B. Gregg, Marshall Hodgeman, Joseph D. Lucas, George R. Lockwood, William McMillan, E. E. McGill, William Maffitt, Ried Northrup, R. E. Rombauer, Alexander B. Rust, A. L. Shapleigh, Frederick H. Sempie, V. C. Turner, Thomas H. West Jr., Thomas W. Carter, David G. Evans, William H. Elliott, Lemuel R. Carter, Ben Farrar, William Grayson, Edith P. Howard, J. C. January, Ezra H. Linley, J. F. Lutz, J. C. Moon, Claude L. Matthews, John W. Nute, Henry S. Priest, Ella B. Robinson, L. B. Schultz, Ellsworth S. Smith, William A. Van Slycke, J. Sidney Walker, Perry-Barthalow and Misses Fannie Fladd and Myra Tutt.

The newly organized Woman's Art League of St. Louis will hold its first meeting within the next two or three weeks. At this meeting the members will submit examples of their work, with a view to holding an exhibition late in November or early in December. The purpose of the league is to keep alive the interest in art which is often allowed to die when the women students marry. It is open to all women artists. The applicant will submit some of her work to a jury made up of prominent artists outside of the league.

Officers of League.

The officers of the league are: Mrs. H. C. Irish, president; Miss Anna Trueblood, assistant supervisor of drawing in the public schools, vice-president; Mrs. Emily Phelips, secretary; Miss Adele Schulenberg, treasurer.

The charter members are: Misses C. Brinson, Agnes Richmond, Marguerite Breen, Effie Less, Adele Schulenberg, Anita Moore, Anna Trueblood, Florence Connor, Nannie Conklin, M. N. McCall, G. Souther and Mary Taulby and Mmes. Emily Phelips, K. C. Cherry, T. E. Ferguson, H. C. Irish, Bertha Woelrych, E. D. Garrett and Modenia Biers.

Mrs. Modenia Willard Biers and Miss Alice Pettingill will open a studio in the Musical Arts Building early in November.

Miss Esther Fellows, instructor of design in the School of Fine Arts, has returned from her home in Philadelphia for the opening of the school Monday, Sept. 23.

Mrs. A. W. Schulenberg, 3213 Russell avenue, took a party of 15 mothers from the North Broadway settlement through the Museum Saturday afternoon. They were particularly interested in the china and lace exhibits, as both of these arts are taught in the settlement.

The brick work of the new Artists' Guild Building, Von Versen and Union boulevards, is practically completed, and work on the roof will soon be begun. The Guilders hope to hold their Thanksgiving dinner in their new home.

Karota Date, the Japanese student who won the Art League scholarship at the School of Fine Arts last spring, has gone to New York to open a studio.

Some of those whose love for art overcame their aversion to heat last week, and who made the arduous climb from the cars to the museum, are: Mrs. A. A. Selkirk, Mrs. Casey and Mrs. Dan Nugent, Mrs. McKittrick Jones, William T. Dowdell, Mrs. Marsh Boothby, Miss Young, Miss Clopton and Mrs. G. W. Strodtman.

NEILL HERE TO AVERT STRIKE OF ENGINEERS

United States Labor Commissioner to See Missouri Pacific Officials.

Charles P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor, arrived in St. Louis Saturday to confer with C. S. Clarke, vice-president of the Missouri Pacific Railroad; W. S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Assistant Chief W. M. Cadle, in the effort to adjust the differences between the Missouri Pacific management and its engineers.

The questions to be arbitrated relate largely to rules and wages.

Mr. Neill said to a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Southern Hotel that, contrary to reports from Washington, he had not been directed or invited to act as mediator in the telegraphers' strike.

When asked about the statement that a committee representing the operators visited the President at Oyster Bay, and that Neill was soon after ordered to enter into negotiations with the telegraph companies, he said:

"All I know about that matter is what I have read in the newspapers.

"I can state most positively that at this time I am not concerned in any way in the troubles between the telegraph companies and their employes."

Rules in Controversy.

Mr. Neill expects to remain in St. Louis several days.

At the recent conference in Chicago of managers of Western lines with the engineers' committee, the question of wages was settled satisfactorily. The question of rules and hours was left to be settled by the individual roads.

One of the matters under discussion is whether an engineer shall take the engine to the roundhouse at the end of a run.

When the Missouri Pacific company failed to reach an agreement with its engineers Mr. Neill was called on to act under the Erdman law, which makes arbitration practically compulsory for railroads.

$500 FOR TRIP IN A BALLOON

Germans Need the Money and Will Grant Passenger Concessions.

Any St. Louisan who can speak German and has a desire to rise in the world will find an opportunity at the balloon races to be held here in October.

John W. Kearney, secretary of the Aero Club, has been notified by two of the German contestants that they have not yet succeeded in obtaining companions for the race, and will probably have to find them here. The only additional requirement of the would-be balloonist is the trifling sum of $500, to help defray expenses.

The German contestants are Carl Meskel of Elberfeld, Germany, and Carl Erbsloeh, who won the international race at Brussels. Both have established reputations as balloonists.

Miss Nellie Widman Returned.

Miss Nellie Widman is one of St. Louis' most promising young mezzo-sopranos. Miss Widman has been having a delightful summer with her teacher, Mme. Downing-Macklin, at the latter's cottage in West Newfields, Mass. Miss Widman sang at several recitals in Boston, Albany and Troy and received complimentary criticisms. She will depart for the East in January, when she will fill engagements in the mentioned cities. She will also sing with Wolfsohn while in the East. Mme. Macklin also entertained Miss Ida McClagan and Miss Agnes Grey.

Young People's String Orchestra.

Rehearsals for the two annual concerts of the Young People's String Orchestra are now in progress. Victor Lichtenstein, the conductor and organizer, is preparing some interesting programs. The first concert master of the orchestra, Jacob Blumberg, has recently won a first prize for violin playing in Brussels, and the present concert master, Julius Silberberg, shows equally great promise, having in the past two years sucessfully performed the "Ballade and Polonaise" of Vieuxtemps, the "Carmen Fantasie" of Hubay and the tremendously difficult "Carmen" of Sarasate. The first concert will take place in the latter part of October.

Gerardy to Marry.

A cable to R. E. Johnston, the American manager of Jean Gerardy, the Belgian 'cellist, who is to tour this country beginning next November, announces the coming marriage of the famous young artist to Miss Baba MacQuade, a beauty and heiress of Australia. Gerardy is now on an automobile trip with his fiancee and her mother, Mme. MacQuade, who is the owner of nearly all the principal playhouses in her native land.

Gerardy's American season will begin with a recital at Mendelssohn Hall, Nov. 8. Subsequently he will appear in connection with the Volpe Symphony Orchestra in Carnegie Hall on Nov. 21, and with other leading orchestras. THOUSANDS SEE DEPUTY STABBED AT STREET FAIR

Robert Goericke Fractures Skull of Wellston Disturber With Billy.

Following a terrific battle with H. E. Powell of Kansas City at the Wellston Street Fair early Saturday, Robert Goericke, a St. Louis County deputy sheriff, now under indictment for perjury, nearly bled to death in the office of Dr. Frank J. Dingeman, 5980 Easton avenue.

Powell had been at the carnival all evening. Many who say him say he was extremely boisterous. Shortly after midnight so many persons complained that Powell was annoying them that Goericke was called to suppress him.

Arrested, Draws Knife.

They met near the head of the Midway on Evergreen avenue and Goericke grabbed Powell by the shoulder and told him he was under arrest.

Powell jerked away and drew a knife, and advanced on Goericke at such close quarters that the Deputy did not have time to draw his revolver.

Powell's knife struck Goericke on the left temple. It cut four arteries, and is believed to have fractured his skull. Dr. Dingeman says his condition is extremely critical.

Goericke is in a room at the Empire Hotel at Wellston, and Powell is in the City Hospital.

An immense crowd had gathered, and the fight under the carnival lights was witnessed by 10,000 persons.

A Requisite for the Medicine Chest

One of the most useful things to keep in your medicine chest is C. N. Disinfectant.

This non-poisonous liquid is known by everyone as a great disinfectant, but not all know of its antiseptic qualities.

It is an excellent remedy for cuts, bruises and all skin eruptions, as it purifies wherever it touches, thereby restoring the skin to a healthy condition.

It takes the place of Carbolic Acid in all its uses, being much preferred, as the latter is a dangerous poison, while C. N. is absolutely harmless.

It has many other qualities which add to its value in the medicine chest.

"FIRST IN EVERYTHING."

THE PRESIDENT'S FOUR SPEECHES.

It is now said that only one of the President's four important speeches to be delivered in the West on the subject of river improvement will be devoted to politics.

If of the other three one should treat of naval affairs, another of trust prosecutions and another of race suicide or the strenuous life our worst fears would be realized.

Mr. Roosevelt said on election night three years ago that he would not be a candidate for re-election. It is intimated that in one of his river improvement speeches he will discuss the third-term question exhaustively and conclude it by declining positively to be a candidate next year.

The President understands himself and we are not giving him any advice, but for the information and guidance of many aspiring public men it may be said with much confidence that there is at least one Presidency in the Western river improvement enterprise.

If Mr. Roosevelt's speeches in October on the subject of deep waterways treat of everything else under the sun except deep waterways, the Mississippi Valley will come to the conclusion that he has no further political ambition.

If he should chance to captivate the popular imagination by showing better than any other person has yet done the advantages to be derived from river improvement and should raise the issue in such manner as to fire the Western heart it is possible that incidental obeisances on his part to the anti-third-term sentiment of the country would be without avail.

The West wants 14 feet of water through the valley and it is going to have it. There is a first term for somebody in this proposition and it is within the range of possibilities that there is a third term for Mr. Roosevelt in it.

He must stick to his text, however. Deep waterway speeches must be about deep waterways.

Judged by the cost of living, the trusts have not been put to much inconvenience by all the prosecutions and talk of prosecutions.

MARRIAGEABLE WOMEN COMING.

Advices from various European ports are full of cheer and comfort.

Every ship departing for the United States carries an unusually large number of marriageable women and girls. One vessel had 1000 of them and on others they constituted a large percentage of the passenger list.

If this sort of thing shall continue much less will be said about undesirable immigration. It is true that many new arrivals of the male sex are not prepossessing in appearance. They have not been to the barber shop recently and they left their neglige suits and pink shirts at home. Most men, even the most favored, look like tramps when they are fishing. How can immigrants be expected to appear to better advantage?

As to marriageable girls, however, they are different. They learned long ago the art of looking well. In the very matters as to which men are likely to be indifferent they are particular. They would no more think of coming to America looking like frights than they would contemplate sailing for the North Pole in a balloon.

We will not exactly suspend business and industry when these young women arrive, as they do in Montana and New Mexico when a new schoolma'am comes to town, but that they will be heartily welcomed cannot be doubted.

There is room in the American heart and in the American kitchen for thousands of respectable young women of marriageable age and in all human probability there is a fair sort of husband here for every one of them, if that should turn out to be one of the objects which this migration has in view.

There ought not to be much wonder at the City Hall because it costs a lot of money to renovate the chamber in which the House of Delegates holds its meetings.

DRAWING ROOMS AND DEMOCRACY.

Plain people accustomed to this country will deprecate the assertiveness of those two Russians who wanted to hold their Pullman drawing-room when it was required for the use of an American Princess and her Consort.

Apology for the aliens must take into account that they may have gained the idea that they were in a republic of equal rights to all and special privileges to none. Foreigners sometimes make the mistake of imbibing republican principles too freely. Coming here fresh from their native czardom, these innocently mistaken travelers appear to have fairly glutted themselves with doctrines of freedom, equality and individualism. These should be taken sparingly and digested.

That there could be vassalage, serfdom or subserviency in a realm where all men are adver- as kings in their own right seems not to occurred to them at all; whereas the more sophisticated of us know that all truth is but a qualification, an incongruity and a paradox.

When they have become acclimated the Russian gentlemen will learn that democracy must not be taken too literally, and that instead of being precisely axiomatic it means equal rights to nearly all and special privileges to some.

While nominally we have no royal suites in our hotels and traveling carriages, the bridal chambers and drawingrooms virtually answer the purpose when royalty deigns to use them. In his own country a Russian would esteem it an honor to vacate his luxury in favor of a Princess, and if he did not she would soon know the reason why.

The moral is that when in this country it becomes necessary sometimes to do as the Russians do.

Attorney-General Hadley is said to have received a report from Adjutant-General De Armond to the effect that 90 per cent of the Missouri "service claims" for war supplies alleged to have been furnished to the Government in the late unpleasantness are fraudulent. This kind of honesty has its modern counterpart in the food trusts.

FIGHTING THE DEVIL WITH FIRE-WATER.

Reform sometimes proceeds by economics as well as by ethics. One of Mr. Bryan's intimates and foremost advisers once busted a trust, or nearly busted it, by establishing a competition that the trust could not beat and then selling out to it for about fifteen millions.

Why not "bust" the lid clubs in the county by developing a good, strong, independent drinking place that will draw all their patrons away from them? Prominent capitalists of the county who have been inseparably associated with late reforms are now taking over the management of an outlying hostelry in which a well-organized bar will be a prominent feature.

Heretofore the hostelry, erected for the Epworth League's entertainment during the World's Fair, has been chiefly known for its want of that feature, but now one of the purchasing capitalists, who bore an honorable and even conspicuous part in the recent Folk crusade, says he believes that "a first-class place where drinks can be bought will be an advantage."

A first-class place run under the auspices of reform will undoubtedly prove an advantage to somebody. But whether it can accomplish the real purpose of reform through destructive competition without dispensing sabbatical refreshment remains to be seen. Is it enough to fight the devil six days in the week and let him have things all his own way on the seventh?

In the end reform may find it necessary to fight the devil on his own ground with his own weapons and without ceasing, for when one is putting the devil out of business he is likely to reason that the end justifies any means.

Affinities seem to be growing less relentless. One of them has just given a husband back to his wife. In time we may educate the affinity into a morally responsible being who will keep his or her illicit soulfulness to himself or herself, or, better still, forget about it.

MR. HASKELL ON HONEST PEOPLE.

Gov.-Elect Haskell of Oklahoma appears to entertain the idea that in the recent political contest in that State the honest people were on one side, his own, and the dishonest people on the other.

Thus in a statement which he has issued he says he "is profoundly thankful to the honest people of the State for their support;" that he is under obligation to nobody except the honest people who elected him and that in office it will be his duty and pride to serve the honest people of the State.

Making due allowance for the fact that Mr. Haskell had just finished an exciting campaign and that he was still under its influence, it must be said that there is nothing in the character of the people of the new State to justify his conclusion that they separate politically on the line between honesty and dishonesty.

No doubt many a candidate in the heat of an election is moved to say in his heart that all who are opposed to him are liars and horse-thieves, but he knows better and when his cerebral fever has subsided he will cheerfully admit that he was mistaken.

Gov. Haskell is well aware that many an honest man voted against him and that he did so conscientiously. It should be his ambition now so to conduct himself and the affairs of his office as to win the approval of political friends and foes alike.

The honest people of this country are not confined to one political party and they do not all vote for one candidate, even though he may be as righteous a man as Mr. Haskell.

Eight of the 17 vaunted indictments returned by St. Louis County's valorous grand jury appear to have been against Mark Gumberts. If the remaining nine are similarly directed, Mark will have the brunt of the battle against reform.

THE HUNTRESS AND THE OUTER PASSAGE.

Probably it would be going too far to say that the Huntress got out beyond her depth in the open gulf on the attempted voyage around from Mobile to New Orleans, but she does appear to have been too sorely tossed by the turbulence of the restless deep. As a result her engines and interior organization as well as the inwards of her crew were somewhat wrenched and are laid up for repairs—while the voyage has yet to be made.

To the timid landlubber it would seem the better part of prudence to make the next attempt by what is known as the inside route. Here the passage, protected by islands running the entire length of the shore, lies through waters placid as a pool and of a depth which a fairly tall Missouri Naval Reserve might wade in an emergency.

It may be borne in mind, too, as a last resort that a still more conservative course is offered by the shell road that winds its smooth and scarcely undulating way along the shore. Mounted on convenient wheels, the Huntress might confidently pursue this overland journey without fear of a trace of mal de mer.

Sea legs and other deep-sea-going proclivities cannot fairly be expected of the Missouri Naval Reserve as yet, to whom the June rise at the foot of Vine street has always represented the high water mark of danger and distress. But give him time. Another voyage or two, and he will dance the hornpipe to a hurricane with the veriest sea dog that ever braved a gale.

Be it known, though, that the oldest Jack tars sometimes suffer the same internal annoyance that seems to have sent some of the prides of Missouri to their bunks. There is no disgrace to a Missourian in the customary consequences of heavy going.

Bon voyage to the crew of the doughty Huntress, then—but for the present it may be just as well for them to keep to the inner passage. May the log soon record their safe arrival at New Orleans.

The politicians who want the Missouri Republican delegation unpledged wish to be in a position to make trades. From the standpoint of a managing man, the next best thing to dictation is bargaining. When Missouri goes Republican once or twice more it may be able to do some bossing.

The Standard Oil Co. loses nothing by admitting that its profits are several times larger than formerly stated. It might just as well have made the admission in Judge Landis' court, for he gave it the limit anyhow.

"Hang inveterate criminals!" cries Bonaparte. Does he include the malefactors of great wealth? It may be in order to remind him of the old wisdom of first catching your rabbit.

There are in the Missouri penitentiary 125 more temperate than intemperate prisoners. Now let us hear from the almshouses, workhouses and insane asylums.

The Panama Canal, up to Jan. 1, had cost $84,449,000, but it is a better investment than the Archipelago.

Anyhow, the hardy seamen of Missouri will never be seasick on the Mississippi.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

To "Helpless Widow, M."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch

If "A Helpless Widow" will give her address to Mona House, 209½ North Sixth street, she can have a home.

Still More Parks.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I thoroughly agree with the gentleman who suggests utilizing the ground bounded by King's highway, Terry, Euclid and Spalding for a public park. This block facing King's highway as it does is finely situated for a park and in view of the remarkable growth of this section of the city, with no parks whatever, I think the city would do a wise thing in buying same for park purposes as it could be made very attractive at small expense.

STILLMORE PARKS.

Sunday Barbering.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In regard to Traveler, who complains that he cannot be shaved in St. Louis on Sunday, evidently he is one of the brand who thinks a barber should be tickled to death to work seven days a week for three squares a day, providing the busy traveler gives him time to eat them. Being a barber of 30 years' experience, we must firmly ask Traveler to "quit his kidding" in regard to tips. The next time he is caught in St. Louis with his hirsute appendages too much exposed to suit his fancy, he might do as he did "down on the farm," before he became a traveler, yank 'em out before the cracked kitchen mirror.

MART STEFFAN.

The Referendum.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

You say that, while "pure democracy" can be and has been practiced by the American people in small communities and in a small way, it cannot be so applied in larger affairs or to a great government. Democracy, then, is an impossibility, and we have nothing left to choose between but aristocracy, monarchy and despotism. For a pure Republic is nothing more nor less than an aristocracy. A democracy is a government by the people, but a republic is a government by the representatives of the people, which is a very different thing. For the representatives can, and very often do govern without regard to the will of the people. Under our composite form of government (which I would not materially change), there is but one way that the absolute will of the people can be ascertained, and that is by the referendum. Therefore, as a believer in democracy, I am in favor of the referendum. And I think I know what I am doing.

Ancient and Dirty.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In reply to Historian, in Friday evening's Post-Dispatch, I want to say he cannot be very familiar with the ancient history of our street cars when he only goes back to the washing of the windows of the Maplewood line in 1813. Why, we have cars running on one line in the city that were used by Adam and Eve in the (summer) Garden of Eden. After it closed they were used by Cain and run to the Land of Nod, where he made a mash and got his wife. Then they were used to run excursions up to Mount Ararat to see the remains of the old ark. Later they used them to convey the workmen back and forth at the construction of the Tower of Babylon. Space forbids the continuance of the history of their ancient uses. Suffice it to say they are now used by the United Railways on the Lee line in this city, and they have never been cleaned since first put in use.

C. V. B.

How to Handle $5000 a Year.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

M. B. A. has troubles of his own and I feel very sorry for him, for I am wondering who is to blame. He is either extravagant or his wife and daughter are very poor managers. In the very first place, he did not start them out right, or probably he is to blame for being too good-hearted, hence his regret. But I imagine that if I had his income I would at least try and live on a smaller scale and in the end have something to show, for it's always best to look out for a rainy day. I could figure up his expenses in a very few moments and at the same time think I was living like a queen. Why not have ladies of the house help just a little bit and save on servants, for I know people who have a larger income than M. B. A. and do not hesitate one moment in doing a little around, especially where there two women. Start out by getting cheaper rent and do not live quite so extravagantly as you have in the past years and you will find that you can at least save something. Here is how I would figure it if I had his income and would be contented at that: Rent of house, $35; service for help, $30; wife's spending money, $50; daughter's spending money, $25; theaters, $10; groceries, $30; gas and fuel, $10; butcher, $30; miscellaneous, $30. Total, $220. In 12 months at that rate I would spend $2640, thus saving on an income of $5000, $2360.

ALTON.

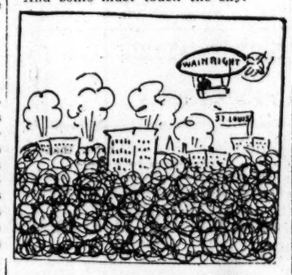
TO THE RESCUE.

JUST A MINUTE.

THE ST. LOUIS BOOM.

All over old St. Louis
Hear pneumatic hammers pound;
The builders are a-hustling
And they make a joyful sound.

From Broadway out to "Bolivar"
See the buildings rising high,
Some are content with smokeless air
And some must touch the sky.



They're rising like the mourners
Who heed the preacher's call;
They're rising like the vines in spring—
Our spirits in the fall.

If Ellis Wainwright could come back,
From his exile in Par-ee,
He'd think he was a-dreaming
When our new sky-line he'd see.

THE MAN IN THE AUTO.

The Owner of an Automobile who was running his machine Across the Landscape like an express train hauling the President's Private Car, was apprehended by a Deputy Sheriff who dragged him before a Justice of the Peace.

"He was going two hundred miles an hour," said the Deputy. "Say, he looked like a streak of red between the hills. He Moved Forward faster than the First Day of a vacation that has been begun Moves Backwards. I never saw anything like it. My! My!"

"How about it?" asked the Magistrate.

"The man is crazy," said the Automobilist. "To begin with, my machine is geared only for eight miles an hour at its highest and I was running on the Slow Speed Clutch. It was slightly upgrade and the machine was tired, having been out all night. We were not going more than Two Miles an Hour."

"Only two miles an hour?" asked the Magistrate. The Deputy had Fainted and was Speechless.

"That's right," said the Chauffeur. "That wheezy Old Cart can't do much better than that."

"If you had been Found Guilty of Speeding," said the Magistrate, "I would have fined you the minimum of two dollars. I dismiss that charge, but I find you Guilty of Loitering on the Public Highway and sentence you to Jail for Six Months."

Moral: Lies are Dangerous when they Are Believed.

HOT STUFF!

When the brave First Regiment and Battery A
Together dine on Sunday,
O, what a sizzling bill of fare
Should St. Louis see that one day!
You may talk of hot tamales that frizzle in the mouth,
Or of chile con carne's burning,
With a sprinkle of paprika and tabasco sauce,
To satisfy a gourmand's yearning.
But a soldier must a regular fire-eater be,
So, it's safe to say, for one day,
There'll be an asbestos menu card
When the Battery says: "Eat hearty, pard!"
To the First Regiment next Sunday!

TAKE A RECEIPT.

"You should not cross a bridge," said the man who quotes things, "until you get to it."

"That may be all right about bridges," said the practical St. Louisan, "but you had better ask for a transfer when you pay your fare, even if you are not to use it for an hour. Otherwise you will pay another fare or walk."

TEDDY GOES A-HUNTING.

Bye, baby bunting,
Teddy's going a-hunting!
To get a canebrake bruin's skin
To wrap Taft's baby boomlet in!

Armed in the fiercest manner,
He'll go to Louisiana,
And it's said they've stocked the country full
Of game on which his gun he'll pull:
Bears for his own shooting,
Wildcats swiftly scooting,
Panthers striped and spotted,
Catamounts polka-dotted—
And when the lives of all he's "took,"
Teddy's going to write a book!

Stand back, nature fakers,
False animal-story makers!
Here's a book will show you true
Everything the wild beasts do,
And also will its story
Proclaim its writer's glory,
Full of personal pronouns fat,
Ego this and Ego that—
Bye, baby bunting,
Teddy's going a-hunting!

A MAN WITH A PIPE.

There once was a Man who bought a Clay Pipe with a Stem so long that it reached from the Remote Past to the Distant Future. The Stem was small and as brittle as a Lover's Promise or the Pie Crust that Mother Used to Make.

"Go to, thou fool," said a Candid Friend who met him. "That church-warden pipe will be broken before you Walk a Block."

"Well, what of it?" demanded the man. "I can break it several Times and it will still be be Long Enough to reach from the Bowl to my mouth. That is, if I move the Bowl close enough. Furthermore I got More for My Money by selecting the Pipe with the Swan-like Neck."

The Man had not Gone Twenty Feet when a Pedestrian bumped Against Him and Smashed the elongated Pipe Stem. It broke off so close to the Bowl that it could not be Smoked by any Man with as Much Nose as a Saucepan or as Much Chin as an Anteater.

Moral: The Salvage from a Fire is Less Certain than the Insurance.

A SONG OF AUTUMN.

Rah! Rah! Rah!
Kick him in the jaw!
Sizz! Boom!
Sizz! Boom!
Make it like the stroke o' doom!
K—I—double L!
That's the true gridiron yell!
Hey, Smith! Hey, Jones!
Crack his skull and break his bones!
Smash him! Smash him!
Never fear the law!
Football! Football!
Rah! Rah! Rah!

SHOOT THE AIGRETTE!

Not only should Missouri's Audubon Society deal firmly with those defiant St. Louis women who announce that they will not discontinue the wearing of aigrettes, but St. Louis theater-goers should also take up the fight.

For not alone does the wearing of aigrettes in woman's headdress mean cruelty to the birds that furnish the feathers that make the aigrettes—it also means a particularly aggravated form of woman's inhumanity to man that makes countless thousands mourn. If you've ever sat in a theater with the seat just in front of you occupied by a woman wearing an aigrette, you'll unqualifiedly indorse this assertion. When those pesky plumes get to bobbing between you and the stage which you have paid to see—well, they not only make you mourn, but swear as well!

Down with the aigrette—'way down! This must be the slogan now, for Audubon societies and playgoers alike. And let no soldier in this new crusade show the white feather in battle with the aigrette forces! Down with the aigrette—down though it may be already, make it more so!

HEY, INVENTORS!

From the Houston (Tex.) Post.

A cotton picking machine would make possible the rapid and economic picking of the crop and would so cheapen the cost of production that the world could use a much larger quantity than at present. The increased demand would stimulate production so much that no laborer would be thrown out of employment and the producer could count on larger and steadier profits than ever.

Unless a cotton picking machine is soon perfected, the growth of the cotton producing industry is likely to be arrested for lack of farm labor, unless, indeed, foreign immigration should turn rapidly in this direction.

The Silly Old Lancet.

From the New York Times.

As appendicitis first received intelligent attention and treatment from American surgeons, those of England withheld both from it as long as they could. Even yet they call the malady by other names whenever they can find an excuse for doing so, and they discuss it as if it were an evil American invention, scattered through the world for the annoying of real doctors, who are, of course, only raised and trained in the Old Coutries. They have, however, been compelled to admit that there is such a thing as appendicitis, and that once in a while it is well to operate, but in revenge for this cruel necessity they are industriously looking into food products imported from America to find the cause of the "American" malady.

A few months ago they solemnly debated the probability that appendicitis results in some mysterious way from the red rubber bands with which many of our bottles and jars are sealed. They proved that the bands contain antimony, and were much encouraged, but so many difficulties arose when it came to establishing the fact that even the ungriest of Britishers ever ate enough of these bands to creat a pathological state of the appendix that it led to a regretful abandonment of the red rubber theory of appendicitis. Now they are on a new trail—that of the minute particles of steel that might be in American flour made by the roller process—and not only are English surgeons spreading the belief that we are thus diffusing our miserable appendicitis all through Europe, but the dear old Lancet treats the idea much as if it were a demonstrated fact.

The Culinary Autocrat.

From the New York Press.

A giantess, Amelia, dark brown and husky. Could outwork any two men. She appeared at Col. Gillespie's front door with a chipping—"cook wanted," etc. Mrs. Gillespie received her in the kitchen and talked it over. "The Colonel is very, very particular," Amelia was informed. "Everything must be just so. Meals at the exact hour designated, and prepared in the most perfect culinary style." "Ah reckon Ah won't do," said the girl sadly; "Ah don' min' de style, en Ise very culinary. But Ah never could stand to git along wid de finicky scrumptiousness o' some men. When Ah's runnin' de kitchen apartment day's got to take whut dey gits, en no rebellousin'. Ah stan's, ma'am, on my reputashun."

A Clay-Eating Negro.

From the Nashville Tennessean.

"The old clay-eating negro of the South is seldom found now," said Mark Albert, of Montgomery, at the Maxwell. "I remember my old black mammy as she would hunt for rich brown clay and eat many pieces of it. She said it helped her stomach and kept her from illness. She would eat the clay every day and would wind up by eating a large piece of charcoal just before going to bed. She was never sick a minute in her whole life. She lived to be 92 years old and died from an injury received in a runaway. She told me many times that good clay would keep the system in fine shape and that charcoal was most healthy. It acted like a charm in her case."

ADELE WEST.—By writing to the El Paso News or Times you might learn whether the Indian scalps bounty story is true.

SUB.—Will should be filed for probate at place where testator was a resident and a copy filed in county of such State where lands are situated.

S. P. W.—There is no vacant public land in St. Louis County. Write Land Office in Springfield, Mo., for information as to public lands in Missouri.

J. M.—Seven years' absence is presumption of death. Heirs are entitled to estate of such absent person, by applying for letters upon his estate and in other ways carrying out legal requirements.

READER.—You might write to your employer: "My expenses have so increased that I respectfully ask for an enlargement of my salary if you think I deserve it and if business conditions warrant such a change."

MAUD.—A good cucumber milk can be made by taking a cut-up cucumber and covering it with two cups of water. Let it simmer 15 minutes. Strain, bottle and add 10 drops of benzoin to the mixture. This will make a good bleach for the skin.

RED CAP.—The red dome on Welsbach corner street lamps means that there is a fire alarm on one of the street corners. The words "Fire Alarm" under the dome have been indistinct on some of the lights, but are being replaced by plainer signs.

H.—To make German pancakes: Roll out dough slightly sweetened and shortened, as if for plain doughnuts, cut in circles like biscuits, put a teaspoonful of jam or jelly on the center of one, lay another upon it and press edges tightly together with the fingers and fry quickly.

NOTES.—Where two parties sign a promissory note it is proper to use the word "we," though inserting it would not change liability of the parties. Unless note is secured by deed or other instrument there is nothing gained in recording it; nor is it customary to record.

M.—To dye feathers, first steep them in warm water for a few hours, then apply the dye. This you can get at the drug stores of any required color. For blue, indigo and boiling water will do. Generally, the home preparation of dyes is more costly and less satisfactory than buying them prepared.

M.—For tender, aching, tired or excessively perspiring feet, get 2 cents' worth of the following: Powdered alum, salicylic acid and talcum powder. If you have the borated talcum it is even better. Mix these in the following proportions by bulk, not weight: Talcum powder, five parts; alum, two parts; salicylic acid, one part. Mix well and shake a pinch into each shoe in the morning. The above quantity makes enough to last a long time, and is effective in cases where erysipelas has left the feet in a bad condition.

ANX.—An ancient writer says of blushing: "The face labors and is troubled at his presence who sees our defects; and nature, willing to help, sends thither heat; heat draws the subtlest blood; and so we blush. They that are bold, arrogant and careless seldom or never blush." It has been asserted that blond men never blush. It is easy to overcome bashfulness. Don't think of yourself at all, and think very little of any whom you meet. They are only ordinary people, in nearly all cases, no matter how much they may try to appear to be something else. Anyhow your timidity will disappear as you grow older.

Q.—Goldfish cannot bear a temperature below the freezing point. Give them no food containing yeast. There is a prepared fish food. A piece of this food three-fourths of an inch square is enough for a day's food for a goldfish of medium size; feed once every morning in cold weather, half as much as ordinarily. Give them some flies. Have some plants growing in the water. Goldfish must be protected from crawfish, frogs, muskrats, birds and dragonfly larvae. Tadpoles eat refuse matter in an aquarium. Snails keep green scum from the sides. Fresh water night and morning.

H. E. B.—White House whitewash: Take half bushel unslacked lime, slack with boiling water, cover during the process to keep the steam, drain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer, and add peck of salt, previously dissolved in warm water, three pounds ground rice boiled to a thin paste and stirred in while hot, half pound Spanish whiting and one pound glue, previously dissolved by soaking in water in small pot hung in larger one filled with water. Add five gallons hot water to the mixture, stir well and let it stand a few days covered. It should be applied hot, for which purpose it can be kept in a portable furnace. A little yellow ochre and black added will give it a brownish tint and red ochre will give a reddish tint. Don't mix ochre with oil.

OLD.—Piccalilli that will keep: Chop separately a peck of green tomatoes, large head of cabbage, dozen green peppers, half dozen red ones, and dozen average-sized onions. Mix them, and put layers in a cloth, sprinkling each with salt. Tie up, and let hang over night to drain; then squeeze as dry as possible with the hands. Cover with cold, diluted vinegar, let stand six hours, then drain and squeeze as before. Mix together a scant teacupful of mustard seed, three tablespoonfuls of celery seed, three tablespoonfuls of ground allspice and two teacupfuls of grated horseradish. Add a pound of sugar to sufficient vinegar of full strength to cover the chow chow and cook it in the sweetened vinegar half an hour, then add the mixed spices, cook 10 minutes and can while hot. (For chile sauce see Answers Aug. 31.)

R. B. B.—Deep breathing accompanies the graceful walk. High heels throw the weight of the body too far forward and deranges the torso. A slight heel is better than none at all, but it should be broad and firm, never more than an inch in height. The arms should hang freely, following the motion of the body, but never swinging by themselves. Before attempting to walk correctly a correct standing position is necessary. In standing the feet should be a trifle apart and one foot forward, the weight of the body supported chiefly by one foot, the other acting as balancer. The body is slightly swung over the weight-supporting foot, so that an imaginary line would touch the chest and tip of the toe. In walking the chest or vital part of the body should be held high and lead. The head is carried erect. Peasants used to balancing light baskets on their heads carry themselves superbly. The legs should swing out freely from the hip. The knee only very slightly bent. Step with the ball of the foot first and with the grace of elasticity and vitality.

WHIMSIES BY AMERICAN HUMORISTS.

Their Greeting to Salt Lake City as They Were Going West.

HUMORISTS of the American press are holding a convention in Los Angeles. They went west in a special train. While in Salt Lake City the Herald of the Mormon capital, collected the following autographs:

A Song of Seven.
As I went up to St. Ives,
I met a man with seven wives.
And each wife had seven heirs,
And each had seven Teddy bears.
Ives, wives, heirs, bears—
How could the Mormon pay the fares?
CLAR. McADAMS.

Held Up.
Held up for a contribution,
As in stagey days of old;
Taking that which most folks do shun,
Brains, forsooth, instead of gold.
ROBT. L. PEMBERTON.

Saw Two Blades Where One Was.
If the able gentleman who can make two blades of grass grow where there was one before will get busy in southern Wyoming, I am convinced, after examining the country from an observation car, that a merry haycutter who went forth looking for a crop would discover as many as two blades of grass, if he had a good eye.
DUNCAN M. SMITH.

Soliloquy to a Bottle.
'Tis strange to see that you and I
Together cannot pull,
For you are full when I am dry,
And dry when I am full.
EDWIN A. OLIVER.

The Tourist's Evening Petition.
Now I curl me up to sleep
The cou man will my ticket keep;
But should he die before I wake,
What would I do, for goodness' sake!
S. W. GILLILAN.

Seasonable.
That you have salt to give away
Is quite a common rumor;
We'd like to stop with you a day
And freshen up our humor!
WILLIAM G. ROSEY.

Take the Union Pacific Home.
I'm a bachelor, heart whole and fancy free; that's why
Utah's best crop doesn't bother me.
J. H. FORT.

A Grave Joker (First Time).
I have learned on this journey that the West is not as wild and woolly as it has been painted. And it is not as red. Mr. Harriman is right. The country is prosperous and everybody busy. I have seen only one soft snap. It was that of an old toothless dog.
R. S. GRAVES.

The Tides of Love.
Flo was fond of Ebenezer.
"Eb," for short, she called her beau.
Talk of tides of love, great Caesar!
You should see them—Eb and Flo.
T. A. DALY.

A Musical Joke.
Here is a true story of the social side of the Kentucky Legislature. Some years ago the representative from Clay County, in the mountains remote from the railroads, was a leading member of the Philpott clan. With his good wife he journeyed to the capital to be introduced to the dazzling delights of the inaugural ball, etc. The Philpotts were plain people, but adaptable to circumstances. About the second day after they arrived at Frankfort one of the society leaders of the capital asked the Legislator's wife if she was going to the grand opera that night.

"Waal, I reckon we'll have to," said the Clay County lady, "ef it's the style, but I don't calculate to take part."
F. W. SILVEFER.

Lampton on Woman.
Say,
When a man comes this way
His gaze
Is one of amaze,
And with a cry
Of "Oh, my,"
He yells:
"I want to be a Mormon.
These girls are so durn fine.
I want at least a dozen
That I can seal as mine.
And, by gosh,
That's no josh."
W. J. LAMPTON.

Our Wives.
Our wives are part of all our lives—
All of each life! They make us love it!
Why, even when our baby cries,
Our wife is at the bottom of it.
JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS.

Saline Preservative.
They do not claim the Fount of Youth
That poets oft have sung,
And yet we know their patron saint
Remains forever "Young!"
W. R. ROSE.

The Mormon Mother.
Where snow had drifted o'er the land,
I saw a Mormon mother stand.
Babe was lying on her breast;
Its little form
Against herself and closely pressed
To keep it warm.

In later years I passed once more
And saw her at her cottage door.
A boy was lying on her knee,
Her look was grim,
And, suffering Joshua, how she
Was warming him!
S. E. KISER.

One Brainstorm Coming, Anyway.
A bunch of Ha Ha makers
Are traveling toward the west;
I've heard more funny stories—
My sides have been distressed;
I hope they'll quit working
For California's sake;
For poor old California
Has had enough of shake.

And humorists of many kinds.

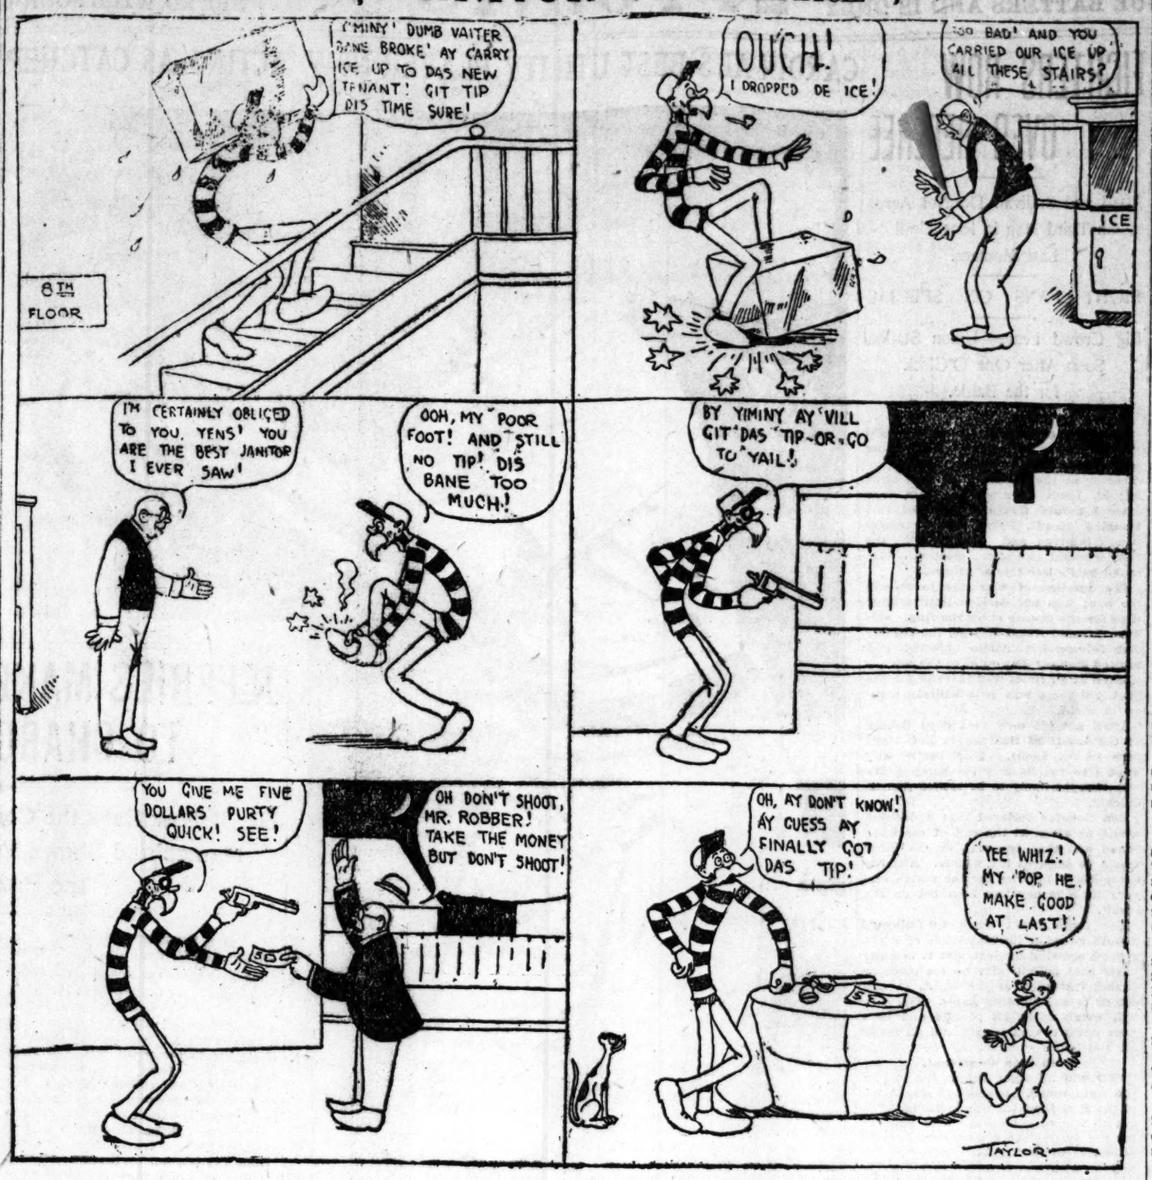
YENS YENSEN, YANITOR { OF THE SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH } BY R. W. TAYLOR.



HERE COMES THE BRIDE.

The Underlings' Pastor Resigns His Charge of the Post-Office Steps and Invites the Congregation to a Wedding March.—Reported for the Post-Dispatch.

BY ALLAN BETHEL.

"BRETH-REN, I be strong 'n th'sperit," said Rev. Zeiotes Aber-Acorn, Underling Pastor, "an' t'night these here Post O'fice steps 'r soun' 'ith th' outpourin's o' m' heart, oth'wise th' love story o' Caspar.

Breth-ren, Caspar come down 'n th' long ago—30-odd yeers, I reckons—fresh an' sweet fr'm th' upper airs o' th' rugged an' hones' Hills t' th' City 'n th' Valley. He hed lived clost t' th' lowin' kine, he hed listened 'nraptured t' th' moosic o' shoats a crackin' co'n, he hed breathed th' odor o' th' blessed yearth, th' wil' flowers an' th' crops.

"Boys, by-an'-by Caspar seen a creat'r 'n th' fondes' image o' woman, an' straight'way d'sired this here d'vine young thing f'r h'se'f. Caspar 'nher'ted th' beauty o' a romantic love affair. He wuz th' flower o' a fu'st yeer o' wedded bliss. An' s' th' gal be smitten 'ith 'im. He wuz a wond'ful lover, an' Renia she wuz th' love o' a hull stack o' women. 'En days o' co'tin' wuz like par'dise, tho' co'tin' be th' hardest work 'n th' sperience o' man.

"Reina thot Caspar th' pink o' p'fection, an' he thot she be th' lov'lest gal 'n fo' States. He thot she be a angel. They wuz young—they had ideels. An' thar'n, breth'ren, wuz th' trouble. F'r, boys, Caspar hed th' same ol' a'fection o' mos' young fellers—he wuz th' soul o' right'usness w'en 'n thet gal's comp'ny, an' things he said soun'ed might'ly like vows o' Kingdom Come. Thet gal she lockt 'em wu'ds 'in 'er heart, an' w'en thet boy wuzn't 'bout she'd fetch th' treasures out an' count 'em a thousan' times a day.

"But, boys, 'twuzn't long, howsomever, w'en Caspar foun' thet gal's love exactin'. He wuz fas'nated jist eza bird be b' th' eye o' a cat w'enever th' lure o' night lights called t' 'im. Thet boy foun' life ez' he'd never 'spected afore. Th' siren song o' new fancies jist carried 'im away a'most.

"S' it come t' pass, boys, thet th' nex' time he lookt 'pon th' sweetness o' Reina an' felt th' faith o' her love, he wuz stung 'r th' quick, an' he up an' confesses he ain't been all he hed ought o' been. Thet gal she jist weeped an' said things. Casper begged like a str'cken sinner, but she wuz mo' taken up 'th 'er ideel 'en in f'rgiveness o' th' man.

"Boys, Caspar, re'lizin' ez how he hedn' ought o' hed tol' 'er nothin', went 'way an' buried 'is sor'er f'r th' fu'st time 'n th' fiery cup, an' thet gal she went an' fell 'n love 'ith 'er own heart. Casper soon med money, heaps o' it. An' he married a woman 'stead o' a angel. An' Reina, boys, she finally married a man 'stead o' a ideel.

"Howsomever, boys, times changes. Th' cer'mony kin't jine 'em es th' Lo'd don't jine, an' th' Lo'd ain't 'n th' conf'dence o' a lot o' couples es marries. Th' cou'ts hed t' cut both 'em couples loose. But Caspar an' Reina hed los' track o' each other.

"Boys, a sho't time sence I seen y' las', I be stan'in' 't Ninth an' Olive sellin' papers, w'en th' fines' lookin' woman I ever see comes up t' me an' says, says she, 'Cas-par!' Boys, I kin' o' got weak like f'r a minute, an' 'en I gasps, 'Rei-na!'"

The old pastor tried to swallow something, and there were tears in his eyes.

"Breth-ren," he resumed, "thet wuz my gal, my gal th' same ez wuz my gal w'en we wuz young folks right here 'in this here same ol' town. I tol' 'er ez how I hed gone all broke livin' reckless-like 'cause she wuz los' t' me, gone clean t' th' dogs, an' hed jist lately hitched up ag'in t' some part o' manhood. We spialned ez how we hed r'leased our other halfs t' tek' the'r ra-al soul mates, ef they could fin' 'em, an' she says ez she wuz foolish w'en she hed a chanct t' ketch me an' didn', an' I says ez how I wuz a ass.

HERE we see how addition and subtraction may be applied to the alphabet. In the upper panel we see that German minus r, leaving Geman, minus man, leaving Ge, plus forge, making Geforge, minus f, leaves Georg. Now, what name is indicated by the lower panel?

BRIEFS FOR LETTER WRITERS.

Hints Gathered for the Post-Dispatch.

IN replying to all letters, first answer all questions asked you. Remember that it is just as rude to neglect to answer written questions as spoken ones.

Always re-read a letter carefully before answering it, so as to really answer it. Do not throw back, after maybe weeks of neglect, a mixture of apology and matters the antipodes of a reply.

Who does not heartily detest answering a neglected letter? Some of the best letter writers make it a rule to answer all social letters at once, or very soon. Here is a sample beginning by a clever woman correspondent of this type: "Yours to me of a long time coming, but, even so, I shall not attempt to retaliate, for if I do the punishment is mine. I so dislike to answer letters a long time ago received," etc.

Write more carefully than you speak, as a rule. Letters are objective realities. The destiny of one's whole life sometimes turns upon a letter.

Never write a letter when angry. If you do, don't mail it. You get the grievance out of your system by putting it on paper. Someone says, "A wicked letter is all the more wicked because it can never repent," and it may be said with equal fervor that an over sentimental letter to a man friend is all the more silly because it can never become sensible, as its writer is capable of doing. The mood will pass and you will regret having immortalized it on paper.

Business letters must be brief and to the point. Answer all business letters and invitations at once. Always inclose a stamp when asking personal favors of anyone not an intimate friend.

HOW TO KEEP HUSBAND AT HOME.

THREE wives, in letters to the Post-Dispatch, have in the past week asked: How can I keep my husband home at night? They complain that he finds more joy among his male acquaintances, in his lodges and elsewhere, than in the family circle. They say that they have exhausted all their means to keep him with them in the evenings and pray for advice. The Sunday Post-Dispatch will pay prizes aggregating $10, divided as follows, $3, $2 and $1 to the authors of the seven best answers to this question.

THE ANSWER TO ARCHIMEDES' PROBLEM.

IN Archimedes' problem it was assumed that his miniature world weighed ten pounds and the lever beam five pounds. Four-fifths of the length of the beam, and, therefore, four pounds of its weight, was on one side of the fulcrum.

Let us assume that the beam was five feet in length. Then at the point two feet from the fulcrum (the average distance) would be a pressure of four pounds, this being equivalent to a two-pound pressure at the extreme end. A two-pound weight at the four-foot arm of a five-foot lever would raise eight pounds on the short arm.

Since the world weighed ten pounds and there was already a half-pound pressure on the short arm, making a total of ten and one-half pounds, there would have to be an additional pressure of five-eighths of a pound on the long arm to raise the world.

Therefore, the answer to Archimedes' problem is that the weight of the pressure of his finger was five-eighths of a pound.

MULVIHILL AND HIS LID.

The Post-Dispatch Offers a Prize of $5 to the Reader Who Writes the Best Limerick on This Subject.

There was a young man with a thirst,
So he started right out on the first.
But that was on Sunday,
So he waited till Monday,
Now he thinks Mulvihill and his lid are the worst.

A young man who once thought he was right
Said the lid wasn't on very tight.
Now he was a dunce,
For he lifted it once—
Mulvihill closed him, and he's out of sight.

When Mulvihill put on the lid
We thought that whatever he did
Wouldn't hurt us a bit,
But we fell in a fit
When we heard that our club had to "skid."

Mulvihill is one man in the West
Who believes that a lid is the best.
He nailed it down tight,
And I think he was right,
For a man needs at least one day's rest.
H. M. WOODS,
627A North Vandeventer av.

Mr. Mulvihill has had a hard fight,
But he's kept the lid riveted tight,
And it's done us more good
Than booze ever would,
And Mulvihill and his lid are all right.
MAREE ALDERSON,
3547 South Second st.

Mulvihill's lid has scored a hit,
Though I can't say I like it a bit;
But I'm proud of you, Tom,
For holding it on,
And wish you success, auber nit.
PAT BELL,
3325 South Broadway.

Mr. Mulvihill, take off the "lid;"
Can't you see the mischief you've did?
Father not only now drinks,
But deeper he sinks.
He now brings it home to the kid.
H. K. SANDERS,
1438 S. Eighteenth st.

There was a man from Seattle
Who came here with a herd of cattle,
When he heard of the lid
And what Mulvihill did,
Said me back to good old Seattle.
JOE SHERMAN,

The Frisco Spirit.
From the San Francisco Call.

That the so-called "new spirit" of San Francisco has esthetic as well as materialistic prompting is exemplified by the current season of grand opera in the Chutes Theater. Local culture and capital are entirely responsible for the enterprise. In the turmoil of rehabilitating their business and their homes, a number of the city's Italian residents, headed by Editor Patrizi of L'Italia, cheerfully underwrote the $50,000 risk involved in organizing the company of 135 people and bringing it here direct from Milan. Which goes to show that the "new spirit" has not utterly extinguished the old art-encouraging spirit that made San Francisco the best patron of opera in America—the only city on this continent that supported an opera-house all the year round and made an annual four weeks' stay by the Grau and, subsequently, by the Conreid companys profitable undertaking for the impressario.

THE BABY'S KITE

Written for the Post-Dispatch BY GRACE E. S. HAHN.

"MAKE Hairwold a tike," said our little man,
"Make Harold a kite? Sure, dear, if I can."
So with paste and with string, and with paper and sticks,
I started my task; but, my, what a fix!
I found myself in.
For there wasn't a little man under the sun
But knew better than I how it should be done.

I sure tried my best, but my best was poor;
We might as well've put a "tail" on the door.
First we had too much tail, then we hadn't enough,
Then "it" was too calm, next moment too rough.
I was discouraged!
Try as hard as we would (we were all in a stew),
That kite would do nothing we would have it to do.

At last I've "turned tail"—'fessed up to the mite,
Mamma's "long suit" is not making a "tike."
So I've coaxed him to wait 'till dear papa can come,
Then we'll have a kite that'll certainly "go some,"
(IF ANY KITE WILL!)
For, although we don't argue that all men are smart,
We'll bet our last cent on "dad" (bless his heart!)

Kid's pacified (though I, really, am sick)
With a small tissue kite—NO TAIL, NO STICK!
And for the kite's string we have some 50 white thread,
But when our papa comes home, I fear he'll be led
A sweet merry chase—
Till this kite that has "stuck" us, he makes with much ease.
But, oh, how I dread it—for he's such a great tease.

WHEN IS MAN MOST ATTRACTIVE?

Prize-Winning Answers Will Be Printed in Tomorrow's Sunday Post-Dispatch.

I think a man is most attractive, young or old, when he shows his respect towards his opposite sex.
C. KAUFMAN, 2708 Madison street.

When he's "mamma's little man"—a baby.
When he's engaged.
When in his 'teens or twenties.
When she thinks he is the right age to marry her.
MRS. JOSEPHINE SCHWARTE.

It seems that men are attractive at most any age. It all depends upon the foolish age of woman.
LILLIAN SIMS,
New Albany, Ind.

In my case I am 22 and my ideal would be a man of 35 to 45 or even older, with his dark hair turning silvery-gray at the temples. At this age she would know if he could well provide for her.
EVELYNE BLACKMORE,
4226 Page boulevard.

A man is most attractive between the ages of 22 and 30. Some young men between that age are more sensible, and earn as much money as some men of 40. I never admire a man 15 or 20 years older than myself. A man is most attractive in his youth.
MISS S. BARIE,

Man is attractive at all ages to some, and to others he is attractive mostly from the ages of 20 years to 45.

Man is most attractive to woman when he is shuffling off this earth, leaving a big life insurance.
IVY ODOM,
209 Clinton st. Springfield, Mo.

I say that man between the age of 30 and 40 is most interesting to woman—because at that age he has had experience and knows how to adapt his manners and conversation to every age, to the frivilous wife of 18 and to the more experienced near his own age, and then he has the tact to listen to the old grandma's tales of the long ago. Yes, between 30 and 40 man is most interesting to woman.

BELLE C.,

If all men were alike I would say men are more attractive to woman between the age of 27 and 35. A great deal depends on the personality of the man. Some men mature and are more manly at a younger age than others. At the age of 27 a man begins to leave off some of his reckless ways; his dignity is more established, and his love is more paternal—there is more about him to look up to. Women are attracted to men the they feel are their superiors. But th must keep themselves clean I suppose as well as out. It is hard to love a man if a woman has to hold her breath in order to do so, and perfumery and sensen are not always agreeable.
ALMINA P. HEYLMAN,
221 North Second avenue, Canton, Ill.

Man is most attractive at the age of 19 to 27. At such an age they are kind and gentle and live only to please and admire their sweethearts. Who wants a man at 30 or 40, who has loved four or five girls. For my part, I want to be first or not at all.

N. Y.[illegible]ACE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE [illegible]GETS CLOSER EVERY DAY, THANKS TO BROWNS' RALLY

St. Louis Team Has Been Playing No Favorites and Takes Fall Out of Each of Leaders in Succession—Cardinals Have Double-Header Here Tomorrow.

IT is much better to have played good ball at the extreme end of the season than to have never played ball at a[illegible] and at the present day, were the Browns among the four leading clubs, or were they as high as the Cleveland Naps, there would hardly be a baseball fan in the country but what would pick the Browns to forge ahead before the close of the year.

Yesterday the Browns went to battle in Philadelphia with Waddell and Powell as the opposing pitchers, and the big boilermaker was the victor by a score of 4 to 1. There is still left Bailey, Glade and McGill, all in good shape, and the fact that the Browns are so w[illegible]ll fortified with good pitchers at present is what makes them formidable. Yesterday the Athletics were able to gather only two hits off Powell.

The Athletics are now lower in the percentage column than they have been for several weeks. With the Browns winning again today and the Tigers also taking a game, the Athletics would be dislodged from the lead.

The double-header that the Sox won from Washington places them in a hopeful position. The Sox's chances of climbing to the top will come in the next 10 days. After Washington they play the Highlanders and the Bostonians and three out of four from these three clubs and an even break with Philadelphia would make the race exceedingly close.

The Cardinals were very soundly thrashed yesterday by the Phillies by a score of 8 to 3. After Beebe had retired on account of his lame shoulder Stony McGlynn was substituted and he was treated harshly. Sunday the Phillies play a double-header here.

Athletic Infield Weak.

[illegible]urnane is responsible for the [illegible]t that on general form the Ath[illegible]ould come number four when [illegible]d to the four great teams now [illegible] up for a grand finish. While the team is a good campaigner, it would not be the choice to go against the National League champions. Either of the other contenders would have a larger following, and yet in a short series you can never tell who will get the jump and have the best streak of luck.

"The Quaker infield is 25 per cent weaker than any of the teams now in the race. Perhaps the biggest factor in the Quakers' success is the handling of the team by a master, for Mack has shown rare ability in getting results out of ordinary material. The men under Mack play clean ball, never wrangle over decisions by the umpire, and are well liked by the fraternity. No one picked them for winners this spring. The team apparently went bad last fall, but this was easily accounted for when one re[illegible]cts on the work of the old players this season. Mack found that he was out of the race early last year and then gave his clever pitchers a good long rest. He didn't force his old standbys to work in the spring games, and now, with Plank, Bender and Rube Waddell on edge for the finish the Athletics will be a difficult proposition to overcome.

Same Old Men There.

The strange thing about the Quaker club is to find the same old faces, winners of the American League championship in 1902 and again in 1905. They come along this year as strong as ever with team players who have been with the club through all these years, viz.: Powers, Schreck, Davis, Murphy, M. Cross, Hartsel, Seybold, Plank, Bender and Rube Waddell. Talk about your young blood, no manager has scoured the country any more than Connie Mack for young talent and used less new men. He failed to land a youngster to fill the place left vacant by Lave Cross until he landed the veteran, Jimmie Collins. Several of his men were cast-offs. Schreck was passed about until Mack realized a fine hitting catcher was a novelty. Dr. Powers was considered too light a sticker for the big clubs until Mack realized that he was a maker of pitchers.

Harry Davis was tried out by New York and Pittsburg and was back with the minors when Mack pulled him back and made him captain of the team. Dan Murphy was counted the worst failure that ever landed at the New York Polo Grounds, and this young gold brick was mailed back to Norwich. Mack knew he could sling the ball and paid $1200 for him, and found he was champion timber. M. Cross was considered a light batsman and good fielder, but never considered the real money outside of the Quaker City, but Mack found that Cross had brains, and used him to splendid advantage. Seybold was never anything but a fair batsman and slow man, but was made valuable by Mr. Mack. Topsy Hartsel was the one clear-cut first-class man on the team from the start. The team has never had a regular center fielder, shifting almost daily.

Mack Made Waddell.

Rube Waddell was of little account until Mack lassoed him and got the work out of him. Plank and Bender were taken practically from the woods and developed by Manager Mack, while the other men now with the team are only fairly hard-working players who can hit better than the average player.

Mack's success is in getting results out of veteran ball players who can stand the gaff and keep cool under fire.

The Boston Americans have 45 players under control—at least 30 of these young men will be taken to Little Rock next March for a three weeks' try-out. Several will be given a chance this fall. Two outfielders arriving this week from Houston, Tex.—Speaker and Whiteman—have been recommended by Scout Huff.

FIGHTERS ROW OVER REFEREE

Attell and Sullivan Do Not Agree on Third Man in Ring Until Last Moment.

FIGHT FANS ON SPECIAL

Big Crowd Leaves Union Station Soon After One O'Clock for the Battle.

A crowd of several hundred fight "fans," mostly followers of the fort[illegible]nes of Brooklyn Tommy Sullivan, boxing instructor at the Missouri Athletic Club, left St. Louis on a special train soon after 1 o'clock this afternoon for Bob Douglas' Health Farm above Alton, where Sullivan and Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, meet in a six-round battle late this afternoon.

The question of who was to referee the bout was not decided until almost time for the men to enter the ring. Sullivan favored Harry Sharpe, the regular club referee, but Attell objected and wanted another man to have the job.

Attell at all times was favorite for the bout, but there was little Sullivan money in sight.

Attell got his only real good licking at the hands of Sullivan in 1904, right here in St. Louis. That battle only went five rounds and the scrap today was thought likely to be settled just as quickly.

Bob Douglas declared that a decision would be given at the end of the sixth round and that one man or the other would be declared the winner. Attell is a top-heavy favorite for the match and very little money has been bet on the result.

The fight meant much to Sullivan. Should he whip the champion or make a good showing against him it is quite likely that he will give up his place as boxing instructor at the M. A. C. and return to the fighting game. The men will weigh in at 126 pounds and both were down to that weight and all ready for the battle at noon.

Both Men Confident.

"I'll win all right before the end of the sixth round," telephoned Abe Attell to the Post-Dispatch this morning. "I've got to win to get square with Sullivan for the decision he got over me here in St. Louis in 1904. I don't have to fake a fight with him in order to get a big purse later as some dopester has said. I can get on a battle every night in the week almost if I want one and there is no occasion of my fixing up one to prepare for another after awhile. I am in good condition and will win sure.'

"If I didn't feel confident that I could give my friends a good run for their money I wouldn't step into the ring with Attell," was what Sullivan had to say. "I think I can beat him and that is all there is to it. I beat him once. I am just as good now as I was then, so what is to stop me? They say he is better, but he will have to show that when he faces me."

WOMEN PLAYING TENNIS MATCHES

Competition Starts for Post-Dispatch Cup at Triple A Courts in Forest Park.

Although the weather was threatening and rain looked imminent, nevertheless a fair-sized crowd turned out to witness the opening play in the third annual woman's tennis tournament for the Post-Dispatch Cup, being played on the courts of the Triple A today.

It seemed to be the consensus of opinion that Mrs. Clarke would again win the Post-Dispatch cup for the third time and thus be entitled to its permanent possession. Judging from her practice play during the past week she is in great form and should be able to defend her title against whomsoever wins the tournament and the right to challenge her.

Mrs. Entz, who captured the State honor; Miss Garesche, who has always done well in every past tournament; Mrs. Hodgman, Miss Lucas and Miss Prendergast are favored as the most likely survivals of the challenge rounds, but at that nearly every one of the entrants stands a very fine chance of coming through her matches victorious and being the one that will attempt to wrest Mrs. Clarke's title from her.

BIG FIELD DAY IN R. R. LEAGUE

Six Lines Will Be Represented in Many Novel Competitions at Kulage's Park.

This afternoon, beginning at 2:15 p. m., at Kulage's Park, the Railroad League began its annual field meet followed by a ball game between the Friscos, the pennant winners of this year, and a picked team from the other five clubs.

The meet, for which the contestants have been training for the last three weeks, promised to be the best of its kind in the city this year. The meet was open to all the employes of the six roads, and some of the best talent in the city entered.

M'KINLEY TEAM IS IMPROVING

Football Squad Not as Badly Off as the Other Schools Think.

FIVE REGULARS REPORT.

Team Will Go Over the River to Play First Game Next Saturday.

The McKinley High School football team is not in as bad a fix as some of the other schools seem to think. In fact, the outlook is much more promising than it was at this time last year, when Coach Pike surprised the followers of the interscholastic race by putting a team in the field which finished second at the end of the season.

Five regulars of the 1906 eleven are on hand, as contrasted with four at the beginning of last fall. Calvin, end; Sibler, and Turek, backs; Pitzman and Newman, guards, are the first team men who have reported. Schnell, who played end last year will also be out in a few days. He has been elected student manager of the team.

Twenty new men and members of last year's second team have been working with the squad. But the star of the whole bunch seems to be a youngster by the name of Balin. He is a candidate for guard, and besides being heavy, is very fast on his feet.

Play Over the River Sept. 28.

Faculty Manager Fry has completed arrangements for a practice game with East St. Louis High, which will be played in East St. Louis on the 28th. This will be the first appearance of the Crimson team on the gridiron this year.

In the meantime Pike will work the boys hard, running through signals every day and having a certain amount of scrimmage work. As he recognizes that the team will be light, he is paying especial attention to developing one of those fast, flashy elevens for which he is famous. He has mapped out a complex program of trick plays which he has been drilling into the youngsters.

JEFFRIES MAKES ANSWER TO CHARGES OF O'BRIEN

Big Fellow Calls the Confessed Faker Some Bad Names and Shows Why Honesty Pays in the Prize Ring.

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Jim Jeffries, being just a plain man and not a theatrical faker like O'Brien, is blowing off a great lot of steam over O'Brien's charge that Jeff isn't "straight.' Out in the wilds of California O'Brien's statement has reached Jeff, and Jim's remarks have been crude and unornamental. He has called O'Brien a very short and ugly word, and has prefixed plain language that is more descriptive of his opinion of O'Brien than it is elegant.

Now the O'Brien partisans are insinuating that Jeff's rage is assumed for the purpose of making a grandstand play.

But to me it sounds like the real thing.

Out in Nevada a few years ago a man was arrested by a sheriff and accused of murder. They hung men for murder in those days, and gave them a short trial and a couple of hours' notice before completing the job.

The prosecution had a smooth, oily lawyer. He brought out all of the circumstantial evidence, fitted it neatly together, with a few weak spots skillfully covered over and explained away, and convinced the judge, jury and spectators that the man was guilty. It looked like a quick hanging, but to fulfill the legal forms the prisoner was given a chance to speak in his own defense.

Won His Own Case.

He had been listening with mingled amazement and rage to the prosecution's legal twistings.

Jumping up he bellowed out: "Gentlemen, I never killed that man nor no other man. I never seen him in my life. Why, I'm a plum stranger in this country and I never seen any of you. It's a blankety blank outrage to pick on me this way just because I'm a stranger and ain't got no friends here. But I ain't afraid of you. Anybody that says I killed this man is a liar and I can lick him. I can lick the whole blankety blank lot of you if you say I killed him. And, by jinks, I'm going to start right in first with this measley, sawed-off, pie-faced son-of-a-gun who's been lying about me here all afternoon."

The jury hastily turned in a verdict of "not guilty," and set up the drinks. That splutter of indignation had convinced them more than all the wily arguments of the sleek lawyer.

Jeffries' desire to get at O'Brien for just one punch, in private and with no gate receipts attached, strikes me as being the genuine and natural expression of honest Jeff's emotions.

And anyway, Jeff states that he is honest, and always has been. I'd prefer his word to that of any self-confessed faker (also describable by shorter and uglier words).

Could Have Faked Easily.

As for the assumption that Jeff "would have been dishonest if his size hadn't made it hard for him to fake"—why assume anything of the sort? Is it fair to say that a man, known for his unvarying honesty, "would have been dishonest" under other circumstances?

And wouldn't it have been easy for Jeff to fake? What could have been easier than for him to let such a clever fighter as Jim Corbett outpoint him and stay away for twenty-five rounds?

Corbett did outpoint Jeff easily until the big fellow knocked him cold in the twenty-third round. A crooked betting commissioner, in an event of that kind could have cleaned up $100,000 right here in New York, and perhaps the Corbett interests would have paid as much more. Jim Corbett, on the stage as retired champion of the world, could have made a million.

Jimmy Britt has lost his friends, they say.

Good riddance to such friends.

The kind of a "friend" who turns his back on a loser isn't worth keeping. It's almost worth the loss of a fight to find out who the real friends are.

Britt may leave the ring for good, or he may go on again and fight other men in the second class. Two "second class" fighters make a far better fight than a first-class and a second-class man matched together. And just now Gans is so far above the other lightweights that he forms a first class all by himself, while the others, although they might be classed in the first division at any time, are only second-raters compared to him.

Whether Britt stops fighting or not makes little financial difference to him. He was a business man before he became a fighter, and he has enough capital to go into business on a good scale whenever he wants to.

TOD SLOAN IS TO MARRY EX-CHORUS GIRL SHORTLY

One-Time King of the Jockeys Announces His Approaching Wedding Day.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—"Tod" Sloan is to be married. The bride elect is Miss Julia Sanderson, ex-chorus girl, now playing with "The Dairy Maids" at the Criterion Theater. She is about 25 years old and by many persons is considered one of the strikingly beautiful women of the American stage.

Sloan admitted last night the correctness of the report of his approaching marriage to the actress.

"In a few days," was the nearest he would set the time.

Annual field day of the Railroad Baseball League at Kulage's Park, track and field events and baseball game, 2:30 p. m.

TENNIS FINALS ON FOR MONDAY

Only one more semi-final tennis match remains to be played to settle the entrants to the finals for the city championship. Yesterday Drummond Jones defeated N. Smith in singles and qualified for the final event. Only one game is scheduled today. M. D. MacDonald defeated Gus Serrano yesterday and the winner meets Fritz Lehmann to decide which one of the two will meet Jones for the single championship.

Because of the fact that Fritz Lehmann and his brother, Sears, have already qualified for the double the finals for both singles and doubles were postponed till Monday, as Lehmann would have to play MacDonald, and should he happen to win the semi-final this would leave him still to play the final singles and assist in the final doubles.

Only 24 points separate Stone of the Browns and the leading slugger of the American League and a continuation of his present gait will come very near again placing George on top. The men Stone will have to overtake are Cobb, Crawford and Flick, and Stone will have to bat with a vengeance to dislodge the three, as they are on teams which are battling for the pennant. Yesterday Stone got only one hit out of four times up, while Crawford and Flick got two out of four. Cobb got one hit.

In the National League only three regular players have a percentage over the .300 mark. Of course, Honus Wagner is still in the lead with a big margin and he is followed by Magee and Beaumont. Byrne and Murray are still the Cardinals' best batters.

M'LEOD OF MIDLOTHIAN NEW WESTERN CHAMPION

By playing consistently fine golf for 72 holes, Fred McLeod of the Midlothian Country Club of Chicago won the professional championship of the West. Lawrence Auchterlonie of Glen View was second, Bob Simpson of Omaha third and Willie Anderson of Ouwentsia fourth. Will Dow of Normandie was sixth.

McLeod's score for the two days' play was 305, getting a 155 for the first 32 holes and a 150 for last. He was playing uniformly good golf at every stage of the tournament, and though outdriven by this man and output by that, his entire work was of the highest order and he deserved to win.

The day's play opened with Bob Simpson leading the field for the first half of the championship, but an 80 in the morning hurt his chances irretrievably. McLeod, who was second, jumped into the lead, and Auchterlonie moved into the place as the result of the morning 18 holes. Willie Anderson also negotiated his round under 39 and crept up on the leaders.

The majority of the players left for their homes last night, but Otto Hackbarth stayed over to meet Will Dow in a special match today, and Simpson to renew acquaintances among his St. Louis friends.

WHEAT WAS ABOUT STEADY FOR DAY

Considerable Long Wheat Came Out Early, but Tone Strengthened Later.

FEW CHANGES IN NEWS

Corn About Steady and Oats Dull and Easier—Cash Demand Good.

Local wheat was fairly active Saturday, and though considerable long wheat bought on yesterday's bulge came out, the tone strengthened after some early easiness and closed about steady for the day. Liverpool cables closed unchanged to ½d higher on spot wheat and ⅝d to ⅞d lower on the future. Paris was unchanged to ½c higher on wheat and unchanged to ⅝c higher on the futures. Antwerp wheat closed 1⅞c higher, Berlin wheat closed ⅛c lower and Budapest wheat 1½c higher.

The foreign news which was so bullish yesterday came as a jolt to the trade this morning, Liverpool cables being sharply lower, world's shipments estimated of 50 per cent larger than last week's, and the official French report was also very bearish. The untoward conditions in the Northwest continue, but early in the day this feature was ignored. There was some quite heavy long selling at the start, but after a decline of about ½c had been suffered the market was affected by reports that the Canadian wheat crop was practically finished by the heavy freeze last night, predictions of further frosts tonight in our Northwest and Canada. Threshing is practically abandoned in Canada, and receipts in the Northwest continue light, with the poor threshing returns, both as to quality and quantity, are still general. There was not much in the way of news, and trading during a greater part of the session was light. Prices advanced a fraction over the previous day's close, sagged, and again strengthened and the close was about steady for the day.

September wheat sold ⅜c lower, at 93½c, this being the day's only transaction in that option. December wheat opened ⅜c lower, at 98⅜c fluctuated between 98¼c and 98½c, advanced to 99⅛@¼c, sold down to 98½c, up to 98¾c, was bid up to 99⅛c, and closed with sales at 99c. May wheat opened ⅜c lower at $1.05⅜ declined to $1.05¼, advanced to $1.05⅞, declined to $1.05½, advanced to $1.05¾, sagged to $1.05⅝, was bid up to $1.05⅞@06, and closed at $1.05¾@⅞ sellers.

The cash wheat market was quiet, the demand good, and prices steady. Total receipts of wheat at all Western primary markets were 910,534 bu., against 978,046 by last year, and shipments were 1,010,576 bu, against 685,000 bu. Local receipts were 83,046 bu, against 49,421 bu last year, and shipments were 61,890 bu. Chicago received 196,000 bu and Kansas City 172,000 bu. Today's clearances of wheat and flour were 677,000 bu, and total for the week 4,340,000 bu.

There was a fairly active trade in corn. There was some fractional easiness at the opening caused by the lower prices for wheat and some long realizing sales. Predictions of frost for Nebraska and Iowa later affected corn, however, and the late market was firm. There were few features and the close was unchanged to 1-16c lower for the day. Corn cables closed ⅛d higher.

The cash corn market was quiet, and somewhat easier. Primary receipts of corn were 251,986 bushels against 458,285 bushels last year and shipments were 575,452 bushels against 421,000 bushels last year. Local receipts of corn were 86,900 bushels against 34,100 bushels last year and shipments were 66,505 bushels. Today clearances of corn were 44,000 bushels and the week's total 2??,000 bushels.

Oats were extremely dull, not a sale in futures being made all day. Nominal prices were easier, the close being ¼c to ⅜c lower for the day. There were no features to the market. Cash oats were quiet and about steady. Primary receipts of oats were 1,169,308 bu, against 513,120 bu last year, and shipments were 729,209 bu, against 333,000 bu last year. Local receipts of oats were 152,000 bu, against 48,000 bu last year, and shipments were 82,685 bu. Oats clearances were 50 bu.

Estimated worlds shipments of wheat Monday will be about 12,800,000 bu, of which Europe will take about 12,000,000. Actual shipments last week 8,080,000 and those of last year 11,392,000 bu.

Arrivals breadstuffs into the United Kingdom during the past week will be about 3,800,000. Broomhall predicts there will be a good increase in the quantity breadstuffs on passage.

An official report states that wheat crop of France this year is as follows, with comparisons:

	Acreage.	Yield bu.	Natural wt.
1907-8	16,111,000	378,712,000	62.47 per bu
1906-7	16,002,000	327,040,000	62.2 per bu
1905-6	15,975,000	337,000,000	61.6 per bu

Indian wheat shipments for week amount to 1,480,000 bu, against 664,000 last week and 472,000 last year.

Following are the stocks of wheat in store at Minneapolis this year; No. 1 hard, 469,000 bu; last year, 341,180 bu; No. 1 Northern, 3,948,105; year ago, 1,345,561; total all grades, 6,159,400; year ago, 2,138,957; decrease for week, 805,169; year ago, 463,225 decrease. In Minneapolis stocks decreased 150,000 bu for one day this week. A good cash demand was reported at Minneapolis. Cars received there were 126, against 265 last year, and at Duluth 239, against 441 last year.

THREE LOSE SALOON LICENSES

G. W. Sisson, I. H. Keefer and Ted Mueller Penalized.

Excise Commissioner Mulvihill Friday afternoon revoked the saloon licenses of George W. Sisson of 2043 Clark avenue and I. H. Keefer of 1801 Chestnut street and sustained the action of his deputy in revoking the license of Fred Mueller of 323 South Second street, Aug. 9.

Sisson was charged with keeping a disorderly house. Keefer's saloon is under the Manhattan Hotel, which was raided by the police Sept. 2. Keefer protested that his saloon had no connection with the hotel. Miller's license was revoked on the charge that he sold liquor on Sunday.

PRICES SLIGHTLY FIRMER IN COTTON FUTURE MARKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Liverpool closed very weak and our market opened 7 to 11 points decline, but not responding fully to the decline in Liverpool. There was some easiness at the call, but storm news soon caused a steadier tone and prices gradually worked up 10 points from the low. The market continues more or less professional and is a scalping one. The buying is mostly by the shorts on account of the chances of a storm, many remembering the one of last year, which proved so disastrous to them. Receipts were large at the ports and the steadily increasing movement is the principal bear factor in the market against which reports on some improvement in the spot inquiry which has led to some buying in the future market on the part of spot houses.

HURLING STONE COSTS BOY $20

George Dolis Angered Because Conductor Wanted to Collect Twice.

George Dolis, aged 20, of 3418 Ohio avenue, was fined $10 by Judge Kleiler in the Wyoming Street Police Court Saturday for throwing a stone at Conductor William Martin on a Jefferson avenue car.

The stone missed Martin and struck a man named Garcia, who was sitting inside the car, over the eye. Dolis admitted throwing the stone, but said he did it after the conductor kicked at him. Martin said he put Dolis off the car because the boy wouldn't pay a second fare.

The conductor explained that the second fare was due because Dolis had gone to sleep on the car and ridden to the end of the line. The car was going back again when Martin awoke Dolis and demanded a new nickel.

Bank stocks occupied the center of the stage at Saturday's session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange. Missouri-Lincoln was especially active, 110 shares being traded in during the forenoon. The opening sales in this stock were at 91, a full point below the closing of Friday. Sales were afterwards recorded at 90½ and 90¼, and finally at 90, which was its lowest figure for the day. Shortly before the close of the session there was a rally in the stock and 40 shares were disposed of at 91. In the last few minutes there was brisk demand for Missouri, 92¾ being bid and 96 offered.

National Bank of Commerce was sold in small lots at 246, and 10 shares of Commonwealth went at 298.

United Railway 4s were steady at 79¾. The rest of the list was practically neglected.

There was some demand for National Candy and Union Sand, but no sales were recorded in these issues.

A BIG PUBLISHING HOUSE DISTRIBUTING WATCHES FREE

How It Gets Its Money Back

Within the last fifteen years the Bobbs-Merrill Company of Indianapolis has grown to be one of the biggest and strongest publishing houses in the country. They were the first publishers of James Whitcomb Riley's poems, but since then have had wonderful success in publishing such "best selling novels" as "When Knighthood Was in Flower," by Charles Major; "The House of a Thousand Candles," by Meredith Nicholson; "The Bishop's Carriage," "The Man on the Box," "The Man of the Hour," and the best works of many other well-known writers.

Good judgment and original, aggressive methods have made the Bobbs-Merrill Company what it is—a big, successful concern, with assets of more than a million and a high reputation in the business world.

The Most Interesting Magazine.

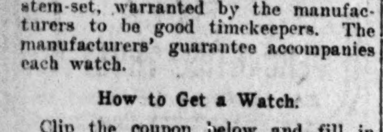
Some years ago this company bought up a number of well-known magazines and consolidated them all under the name of "The Home Magazine." The splendid quality of the magazine, its good stories by the best writers of the day, its wealth of pictures by such famous artists as Howard Chandler Christy, Harrison Fisher, John Cecil Clay, A. B. Wenzell and its highly interesting and attractive departments, have given it a rapid, healthy growth to a quarter of a million circulation. It is a money-maker, getting high prices for its advertising space.

But the big publishing house is not satisfied with ordinary success. It wants and is determined to have the biggest circulation among intelligent people of any magazine in the country. It is giving more and better literature at a dollar a year than any other magazine at any price. But there are millions of people in America who don't know this and never will know it until they see the magazine and read it. The publishers feel that as many people as try The Home Magazine will become permanent subscribers.

The Million Mark.

They want a million subscribers, and are willing to spend a million dollars to get them, for once they are gotten, The Home Magazine, as a property, will be worth millions of dollars on its advertising revenue alone.

To this end the Bobbs-Merrill Company is offering a watch to every person sending in one dollar for a year's subscription to The Home Magazine and a correct solution to this simple rebus:



The watches are in both lady's and gentleman's sizes, are stem-wind and stem-set, warranted by the manufacturers to be good timekeepers. The manufacturers' guarantee accompanies each watch.

How to Get a Watch.

Clip the coupon below and fill in your name and address. Enclose it with one dollar to the Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis, Ind. Write your solution of the rebus plainly and indicate your choice of watches by scratching out the one you do not want. All answers must be mailed not later than September 28. The Home Magazine will be sent to you for one year. On October 5 a list of the winners of watches from among the readers of this paper will be published in these columns.

GIRL, FORCED TO ALTAR, RESCUED BY CLERGYMAN

Miss Belle Crouse Says She Was Wooed With a Revolver.

PARSON WAS ATHLETIC

Held Young Man While Young Woman Escaped to Her Father's Home.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—At the revolver's point, Percy C. Bissell, her discarded and desperate suitor, drove Miss Belle Crouse to a clergyman's home that they might be married, she says.

Cowering, in fear of her life, the trembling girl answered the clergyman's questions which are preparatory to the wedding service. Then, fearing for her freedom more than for her life, she sprang from Bissell's side, crying:

"Save me. He will kill me. I do not want to marry him. He swore he would shoot me if I did not come here."

Luckily the clergyman is a very muscular Christian; he seized Bissell and held him fast while Miss Crouse fled to her parents. The baffled Bissell again pursued her, but in vain. Bissell was not arrested, although he was in a policeman's hands.

Miss Crouse, 19 years old, is the daughter of Rev. Dr. N. P. Crouse, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Stanhope, N. J. Bissell, 22 years old, is a student at the State Normal School, Trenton. His home is in Stanhope, his parents are pillars of Dr. Crouse's Church; there young Bissell has sung in the choir and taught in Sunday school.

Her Father Heard Rumors.

He has long courted Miss Crouse, but her careful father heard that young Bissell was leading rather a wild life in Trenton.

Investigating these reports, Dr. Crouse learned enough to convince him that they were true. So, last Monday he told his daughter enough to lead her willingly to write to Bissell that she would not see him again.

Receiving this letter, Bissell hurried from Trenton to Stanhope, only to find his sweetheart gone, her father's parsonage closed. He followed the Crouses to Ocean Grove, Thursday. Getting a cab, he drove here, there, everywhere, always peering from the window in search of Miss Belle. He saw her alone near White's drug store, and, jumping from the cab, he confronted her.

"You must marry me and at once," he said, excitedly.

"I will not," retorted the girl. "You must leave me; you must leave here. I will not see you again."

For two hours she pleaded with him, she says. Then, in a fury, she says, he whipped a revolver from his pocket and threatened:

"As surely as there is a God in heaven, if you do not marry me at once I will kill you and myself."

Called Her Tact in Play.

Almost overcome by fear, the girl had wit enough to seek some way of escape. She knew, by reputation, Rev. C. M. Giffin, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Asbury Park, and said, tearfully:

"If you must marry, take me to Rev. Mr. Giffin's parsonage."

Bissell called a cab, they drove to the parsonage. All the way, Miss Belle says, her desperate wooer tapped the revolver and repeated his threat of murder and suicide. They stood before the clergyman; the affrighted girl told him her parents' name, her own, her age; then, shrieking, rushed to him and claimed his protection.

Bissell made as if to seize her. Rev. Mr. Giffin, big and strong threw his arms around Bissell and held him, saying calmly to Miss Crouse:

"Hurry home. I'll take care of this too ardent young man."

Miss Belle, who is a graduate of Blair Hall, "flew," she says, to her father and mother. Rev. Mr. Giffin talked long to Bissell, urging him to be a man and not thrust his unwelcome attentions on any woman. Finally the pastor let Bissell go. He hurried to the Lake Arverne boarding house; the door remained closed to him. He broke a window and loudly demanded to see Miss Crouse, who denies positively that she ever engaged herself to him.

An Ocean Grove policeman was called, who did nothing more than compel Bissell to leave town on a late train.

MULVIHILL REVOKES LICENSES

The license of Frank Miller, a saloon keeper of 323 South Second street, charged with violating the Sunday-closing law, was revoked by Excise Commissioner Mulvihill at the rehearing of the case.

Miller's license was revoked on Aug. 8, by Chief Deputy Hartman, during the absence of Commissioner Mulvihill from the city. Miller questioned the right of the deputy to take such action, and was given a second hearing Friday, with the same result.

The license of George W. Sisson of 2043 Clark avenue was revoked on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. I. H. Keefer, 1801 Chestnut street, has been forced to close his place, pending an investigation.

Reported That Metcalf Will Retire.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 21.—The announcement from Washington that Leon Clark, private secretary to Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, has resigned and is coming to Oakland to be Deputy District Attorney, has revived the talk among local politicians that Metcalf's retirement from President Roosevelt's Cabinet is impending. Clark read law in Metcalf's office and always has been close to him.

COURT REMOVES GUARD AROUND WOMAN'S HOUSE

Mrs. Anna Doughty Secures Restraining Order Against Gaffney.

Judge Taylor, in the Circuit Court Saturday issued a temporary injunction restraining Chief of Police Creecy and Capt. Gaffney of the Manchester District from annoying Mrs. Augusta Doughty by stationing uniformed policemen in front of her rooming house at 3022 Locust street.

He said it is not the purpose of the Court to prevent the police from making an unostentatious investigation of the character of the house, but that they must not stop and question persons who peaceably enter the house or come from it.

Mrs. Doughty wept when the decision was handed down.

The injunction will stand until a motion is sustained to dissolve it.

The right which Mrs. Doughty is asserting is that of conducting a rooming house without the help of a policeman out on the sidewalk. The right the Police Department is defending is that of placing pickets in front of a house against which neighbors complain.

The Police Department appears in the controversy in the person of Patrick J. Gaffney, Captain of the Eighth District. Chief Creecy is made a defendant with him, but the acts complained of are the acts of the Captain.

Some time back, according to the evidence, Col. Price, a clerk in the office of the Eighth District Station, who lives across the street from Mrs. Doughty, told the Captain that neighbors disapproved of the entrance and exit of persons at 3022 at rather unusual hours. The Captain had Detective Viehle make an investigation.

Then he received a letter signed by John Jones. After taking everything into account, the complaints of the neighbors, the letter, the report of Policeman McGrath who walks the beat, and Detective Viehle's report of an interview with Mrs. Doughty, he testified that he decided to keep a man stationed in front of the house day and night.

Guard Kept a Week.

Capt. Gaffney testified on the witness stand that he assigned two policemen to keep the house under espionage in 12-hour shifts. They went on duty one week ago last Thursday, and from that time until last Thursday evening there was never a time that a policeman was not standing in front of 3032. When the regular men went to their meals they were relieved by other sent there for the purpose.

Their instructions, according to the testimony, was to take the names of all persons entering or leaving the house. They did that the first day. The names they obtained were only those of the persons rooming at the house. After the first day it was not necessary to take any names, because nobody except the regular roomers entered.

Roomers Put on Stand.

After the policemen and detectives had told all that they knew about Mrs. Doughty's house the roomers testified that there was no impropriety at the house and there were a number of character witnesses for Mrs. Doughty.

"Doc" Pauley, who has the most expensive room at the house, testified that he had advised Mrs. Doughty to stay in the house and fight it out with the police. He admitted that he had befriended a young girl who was convicted in the City Hall Police Court and had sent her to 3032, but said that he acted solely through sympathy for the girl.

Mrs. Doughty testified stoutly that her house was respectable and that she had never rented rooms to improper persons if she knew it.

Mrs. Doughty, Mr. Pauley and several other witnesses were closely questioned by Judge Taylor after they had been examined and cross-examined by Attorney Williams for the Police Department and Attorney Murphy for Mrs. Doughty

NEW HUSBAND

Quite an Improvement on Old One.

"'I have been compelled to stop drinking it,' I said to a friend who asked me to strengthen up on a cup of her good coffee. 'Well,' she said, 'that needn't bother you, for I have Postum Food Coffee here, which completely cured a friend of mine of sick headaches.'

"I tried her coffee and it was very good, but when I tried to make it at home, I was disappointed. I soon found that I was not making it correctly, but by putting in two heaping teaspoonfuls of Postum for each person and letting it boil twenty minutes, it was delicious.

"I had at that time been an invalid for several years, but did not know my trouble was caused by coffee drinking, of which I was very fond. I immediately began to feel better after leaving off coffee and using Postum, and stuck to it.

"One day I met a lady who was troubled the same as I was and whose appearance on the street really shocked me, for she was so emaciated. She exclaimed in surprise at my improved appearance, and wanted to know what I had been doing. She asked me if I had had a healer of any kind. I said, 'Yes, I have allowed Postum Food Coffee to work the almost complete miracle of curing me.'

"My husband has been absent from home for some time, and has been in wretched health, having been in the hospital twice for indigestion. I wrote him to stop using coffee and try Postum—told him also just how to make it. Yesterday I received a letter from him in which he says, 'I am feeling very much better, thanks to you and Postum. I sleep better, eat better, and in fact, my dear, am quite an improvement on the old husband.'"

BLOOD POISON, SKIN DISEASES, VARICOSE ENLARGEMENTS, URINARY TROUBLES, NERVOUS DECLINE AND ALL DISEASES PECULIAR TO MEN.

B. F. French, M. D.

Dr. French says: "It is no more than I expect to hear nearly every man who consults me relate a long story of his having been unsuccessfully treated, but in nine cases out of ten such experience can be attributed to the fault of the afflicted man, for he has had himself under the care of physicians of not sufficient age and experience to be past their experimental practice."

Any man seeking treatment should know that to insure himself of effectual treatment he should employ a specialist of ripe age and long experience.

COME AND SEE ME and note the difference in the way an experienced specialist will treat you, and how soon you can be benefited and cured by the right kind of treatment. If you are skeptical I can refer you to former patients, who will vouch for my conscientious, successful, "Golden Rule" dealings with them.
